Operation Graduation checks teens for seatbelts

By JAYNE W. MILLER

WILMINGTON - Collisions between automobiles and pedestrians and cyclists may be on the rise, particularly along Main Street, say police. A middle school student on a bicycle was struck recently by a car near the entrance to Ristuccia Arena. The student and driver are both alright and the incident was deemed an accident, but the episode highlights the importance of road safety - on the part of drivers, pedestrians, and cyclists.

The Crier spoke to Safety Officer Brian Moon of the Wilmington Police Department this week about traffic safety. He estimates at least 40,000 cars travel down Main Street between Wilmington Crossing and the newly completed Market Basket plaza, an increase over the 36,000 counted in a traffic study several years ago. With the addition of multiple restaurants, business flourishes no matter the time of day. Further, the onset of mild, spring weather has awakened the pedestrians and cyclists.

With four lanes of traffic on Main Street, motorists wanting to make left turns still have to ensure that the opposite two lanes of traffic are both stopped before proceeding, and often

Service station investigation continues

Alleged scammer no longer at station

By JAYNE W. MILLER

WILMINGTON - In February Selectmen refused to issue a Class II garage license for Jomico USA, Inc, located at 603 Main Street, which wanted to sell used cars from the garage property.

At the time, the refusal was partially linked to a police investigation regarding "multiple complaints of fraudulent repair services" out of the garage, wrote Chief Begonis in a statement to Town Manager Michael Caira on the issue. "There appear to be several customers who have been scammed out of money for auto repairs which were never actually completed."

The operator of the business, Monzer Labib Nehme, was arrested and charged with five different offenses, however the Clerk of the Courts in Woburn threw out all but one: larceny by false pretense on a person over age 65.

Meeting to discuss clean up

Sutton Brook Superfund Site moving into next phase

By JAYNE W. MILLER

TEWKSBURY and WILMINGTON - Residents and town officials gathered at Tewksbury's Trahan Elementary School last Monday to hear a brief presentation from the EPA about plans for cleaning up the former dumpsite on South Street. Numerous attendees expressed dissatisfaction with the pace and plan for the remediation of the site, and access to the site is still a factor. Wilmington's Public Health Director Shelley Newhouse attended along with a few Wilmington residents.

Don McElroy, the EPA

Remedial Project Manager, took the floor for a little more than two hours to talk about the Sutton Brook Superfund Site. Monday's informational meeting was the first public meeting with residents since

WHS students travel to Costa Rica

By DANA BURNHAM

WILMINGTON - In April of this year, a group of students from Wilmington High School traveled with their Spanish teacher, Terresa Pietro, to Costa Rica to take part in an environmental education expedition through the Eco Teach (www.ecoteach.com). The trip was a chance to become immersed in Costa Rican culture, including time spent with host families, visits with students in different parts of the country, and hands-on environmental work.

Arriving in the small town of Atenas, in Costa Rica's central valley western edge, students had a chance to meet their local guides and translator. And before their first day was over, they had pitched in at the area's brand new recycling center, which had been established by a Peace Corp volunteer.

They also had an opportunity to visit a school to learn more about life in Costa Rica. Students participated in traditional dances, with Costa Rican children dressed in full traditional costumes showing off their skills - and those from Wilmington High demonstrating the Cotton Eye

Summer work at schools

Public Buildings ready for busy summer

By JAYNE W. MILLER

WILMINGTON - Old fire alarm systems and asbestos floor tiles are on the way out at several area schools as the Department of Public Buildings gears up for its summer work.

In addition to the "routine" summer maintenance in school buildings, such as cleaning all walls, windows, floors and furniture, some old equipment and materials also need an update.

George Hooper, Superintendent of Public Buildings, spoke to the Crier this week about his summer plans, which leave little time for visits to the beach.

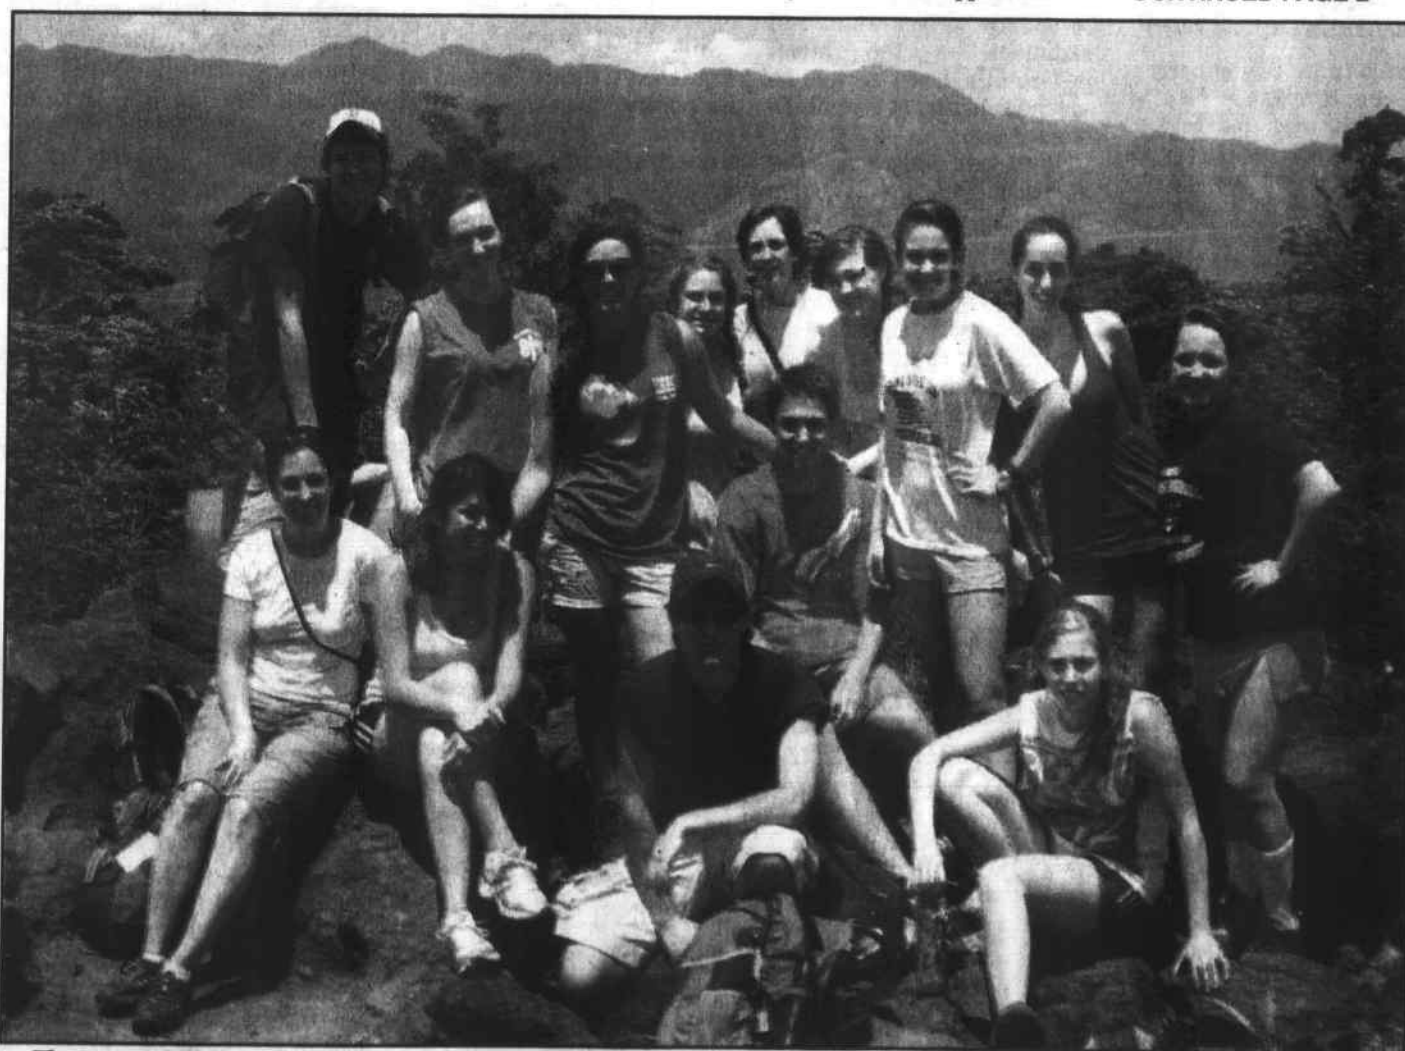

"We have a busy summer coming up," said Hooper.

The Wildwood and Shawsheen Schools will have fire alarm upgrades scheduled for this summer. Both schools have the original alarm equipment with the Shawsheen's vintage 1970 and the Wildwood from 1955.

"We maintain things well, but now the time has come to bring the system up to today's standards," said Hooper.

The new systems give more information to fire fighters, allowing responders to easily pinpoint problem areas and address efforts more effectively.

Shawsheen Valley Technical High School

Eleven students reach Skills USA Nationals

BILLERICA - Shawsheen Valley Technical High School will send 11 students to the Skills USA national finals in June.

At the recent state finals, Shawsheen earned 25 medals and six state championships.

"We were awesome," said Heidi Lloyd, the school's Skills USA advisor. "Twenty-five medals is fantastic and it was all because of great preparation on the part of the teachers and the students working really hard."

In all, Shawsheen Tech sent 75 students to the state finals to compete among 2,000 others throughout the state.

Four individuals and two teams won gold medals. Shawsheen's vocational director David Norkiewicz is beyond proud of his faculty for the outstanding effort they put into this competition and the students.

The Health Knowledge Bowl foursome of senior Elizabeth Ryan of Billerica, senior Kristina Zaccini of Billerica, junior Alyssa Martucci of Tewksbury and junior Rachel Blanchard of Billerica were winners, beating all competitors in a quiz-show type format that saw the group answer questions from several different sources including professional journals.

Contestants wagered points, much like the TV show "Jeopardy." In the end, Shawsheen Tech's squad won by a large margin.

"They really blew [the competition] out of the water," said Lloyd.

A three-person team of senior Nicole Iosue of Wilmington, junior Stephen Mulloy of Billerica and junior Allison Little of Billerica won gold in Occupational Health and Safety.

This group was asked to create a scrapbook of all it does for safety in the graphic arts department at the school. One team member, Mulloy, was also interviewed by Skills USA judges.

Lloyd said the topic, safety, was right up Shawsheen Tech's alley.

"Safety is so big here," she said. "We really make it a priority."

Capturing gold medals as individuals was junior Steven Simas of Tewksbury in technical drafting, junior Michael Flores of Wilmington in Heating, Ventilation, Air Conditioning and Refrigeration (HVAC), junior Matthew Daloia of Billerica in Diesel Equipment Technology and sophomore Kristen Callanan of Billerica in Medical Terminology.

Medical Terminology was in its first year at Skills USA and Callanan beat out three other candidates within Shawsheen to earn the trip to the state finals.

Another new category this year was photography and junior Melissa Fedorchuk of Billerica represented Shawsheen in that competition, finishing second and earning a silver medal. Fedorchuk also won a contest at school to qualify for the state event.

In all, Shawsheen students brought home 10 silver medals.

Senior Michael Padden of Tewksbury was a runner-up in Principles of Technology, junior Annie Whitehouse of Tewksbury was second in prepared speech, junior Vanessa Riley of Billerica was second in medical assisting, sophomore Dayna Jean of Tewksbury was a runner-up in Automotive Refinishing Technology, the Tech Prep Showcase trio of senior Leanne Wagner of Burlington, senior Samantha Boland of Billerica and sophomore Kimberly Barriss of Bedford was a second-place finisher for Industry and Engineering Technology and juniors Danielle Hayse of Billerica and Allyson Trayah of Tewksbury were silver medalists in cosmetology.

Earning bronze medals were four students including junior Laura Viggiano of Burlington in the category of job interview and the Tech Prep Showcase combination of sophomores Brianna Lynch, Jessica Lloyd and Megan Walsh, all Tewksbury residents, for arts and communication.

Meeting to discuss clean up a settlement was reached in December with 49 Potentially Responsible Parties identified to pay for the capping of the landfill and associated remediation costs.

"It was a very informative presentation," said Wilmington Board of Health Director, Shelly Newhouse. "Even though they are so far out - about two years before they start the clean-up - it is just nice that they are so up front and letting the people know so far in advance about what's going on. I wish more people from Wilmington had attended."

The former Rocco's dump began accepting waste in 1957 through 1988. Between 2000 and 2002, highly contaminated drums were removed from the site, which is now known as the Sutton Brook Disposal Area and was placed on the Superfund National Priorities List in 2001. In 2004 the Potentially Responsible Parties (PRPs) agreed to conduct a Remedial Investigation and Feasibility Study (RI/FS). In 2007 the EPA signed a Record of Decision, which chose the remedy for the site. Finally, from 2009 to 2010 a settlement with the PRPs was reached to implement the remedy.

The initial cost estimate on the remediation is $30 million. The final design and costs could fluctuate up or down, but the requirements for the clean up will need to be met.

Both human and ecological risks exist at the site, which is comprised of two lobes that flank the Sutton Brook to the north and south, along with the drum disposal area to the west of the northern lobe, and the garage storage area near the former Rocco family house. The northern lobe is also bordered by the railroad bed, making it impossible to flatten the site out. Human risks include soils and groundwater throughout the site that are contaminated, while ecological risks expand to include surface water and sediment in the brook between the lobes, as well as upland soils and at the garage storage area.

"Right now the groundwater is discharging directly from under the southern lobe into the Sutton Brook," said McElroy. Part of the remedy will include the construction of a vertical structure to direct groundwater under the lobe to a collection point and treat it before it can go back into the ground.

The remedy, which is part of the settlement, will include excavation of contaminated soil and sediment that exceed site-specific levels, consolidating the materials into the landfill (versus trucking that material off-site), construction of an impermeable cap over the landfill to prevent storm water leaching through the waste, groundwater interception and treatment, monitoring the natural attenuation of groundwater, monitoring and maintenance.

The precise design of the remedy is not yet determined, but will be devised by the PRPs and will require approval of the EPA and Mass DEP of the design documents. McElroy will oversee the construction and site work as part of his position with the EPA.

McElroy told residents he anticipates the remedial design will take two years, followed by groundwater and air monitoring around the site. Action on the design should finally begin in 2013.

In order to remediate the site, truck traffic could increase significantly on South Street and other local access roads. Numerous residents questioned whether the road infrastructure could tolerate the loads without sustaining substantial damage, and most wanted to know how many truck trips might be expected.

Still other residents expressed a desire to build a temporary ramp for the sole purpose of facilitating the truck traffic and isolating it away from residences.

"I'm really concerned about all these trucks going back and forth," said former Tewksbury selectman Jerry Selissen. "We've just invested a ton of money in our infrastructure."

"The EPA has said all along if there is another way to access the site other than South Street, then great," said McElroy adding that, "there is no reason to delay clean-up to align with any delays" from the I-93 Lowell Junction Interchange project. He added that the PRPs are obligated to construct a remedy and are eager for I-93 access.

"As far as I know, there will be no access from Wilmington to the site for the purposes of clean-up," Newhouse told the Crier this week.

Another concern raised by residents included the use of "recycled" soils. These soils may contain low levels of contamination and there was some concern raised about dust from those trucks getting into the community as they roll through town.

Additional meetings will be scheduled in the future to continue to discuss issues of access to the site, traffic, end use, capping, and more. While the public comment period has officially ended, residents can still talk to their local town officials as well as the EPA about concerns relative to the remedy.

Judy Fittery, the founder of TOXIC, attended Monday's meeting and told the Crier "nothing surprises me tonight as far as length of time. We were told that South Street would be a lengthy process."

Fittery was surprised that contaminated soil would be kept on the site and moved to an area that will eventually be capped. Fittery would prefer to, "get as much of it off the site as possible."

Overall Fittery was glad to have the meeting, one step closer to cleaning up the dump, an effort she spearheaded more than a decade ago and eventually brought to Superfund status.

Michelle Walsh of ECO, EnvironmentalCitizens.org, told the Crier, "I was very impressed with the people from public offices who were here tonight. They are going to play a vital role in trying to address the remaining issues."

Walsh indicated that ECO will have information updates available online and seeks to facilitate information flow between the EPA and residents.

"The biggest thing ECO does is create awareness," said Walsh.

Numerous Tewksbury public officials joined Newhouse at the meeting, including Selectmen Annemarie Stomach and Doug Sears, the new Tewksbury Town Manager Richard Montouri, Board of Health Director for Tewksbury Lou Ann Clement, the Town Engineer, State Representatives Barry Finegold and James Miceli, as well as the Chief of Staff for Tewksbury's State Senator Sue Tucker.

Joe. Tables were then turned, as the Wilmington High kids were given the chance to don Costa Rican garb and were taught the ethnic dance they had just seen.

Students continued their travels around the county, staying two nights in several locations until ultimately returning to Atenas. Although they had some time to be typical tourists - time on the beach, ziplining, a visit to a hot spring - the students spent the bulk of their time getting to know the culture and people of Costa Rica and, of course, putting their classroom Spanish to the test.

The highlight of the trip was taking part in the sea turtle project on the Caribbean coast, during which students patrolled the beach at night in search of nesting leatherback turtles, an endangered species. They assisted in measuring the turtles, conducting population counts, and more. Leatherback turtles survive to this day because of the involvement of student groups such as the one from Wilmington High School.

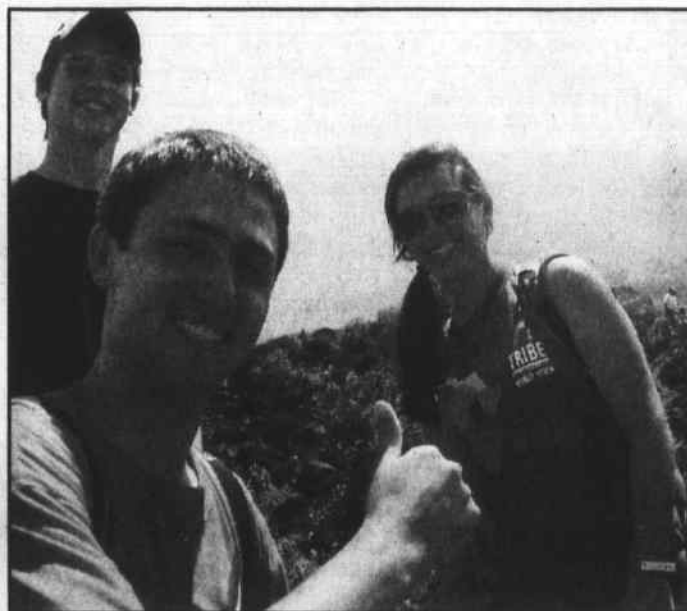

Other environmental activities included assisting in a reforestation project to improve the environment in the areas surrounding the small town of Pital, where the travelers stayed with families in another trip highlight. There, students said they felt instantly bonded with their hosts, sharing in their daily lives, including great meals made with fresh local produce like plantains, mangoes, papaya, and guavas. Some students even learned how to cook staples of the Costa Rican cuisine, such as the ever-present rice and beans.

A day trip to a school for the indigenous BriBri people brought students high into the Talamanca Mountains. Getting there involved an hour and a half bus ride in their tour bus, followed by a boat trip in a motorized canoe, a 45-minute trip on a public bus, followed by a 45 minute hike - including crossing a waist-high river - to get to the community. There they found people living in traditional BriBri homes, which are open-sided wooden structures with thatched roofs, built on stilts. Arriving at the community center, they had a chance to meet students, including a 5th grade boy who traveled three hours on foot every day, getting to and from school. There, they were served cocoa in coconut shells, and banana leaves were used as plates.

Students found the Costa Ricans to be welcoming and friendly, and strongly connected to the land they live in. They also found this way of traveling - a mix of education, culture, environmental activities, and fun - a great way to travel. For many, this was their first trip out of the country, but all having had such a great time; they hope to have more great travel experiences in the future.

It's Your Money

PUT MORE IN YOUR RETIREMENT ACCOUNT

There's really only one way to beef up a retirement account that took a hit when the economy tanked: put more money into it and let time and tax-deferred appreciation build it up again. Another plus: those extra contributions can trim your current taxes.

People born before 1961 have an advantage; they can invest as much as $22,000 in their 401(k), 403(b) or government 457 accounts, $5,500 more than the "youngsters" in the company. (Surprisingly, only 13 percent of those who qualify for this bonus take advantage of it.) That older coterie can also contribute an extra $1,000 over the usual $5,000 limit to a Roth or traditional IRA, or an extra $2,500 to a Simple IRA.

Need to find the extra money to stash away for the future? Experts recommend being less generous with offspring, refinancing a mortgage, downsizing living expenses. They also recommend careful investing to rebalance a portfolio. How can you make the most of your retirement next egg? Talk to the tax-and-finance folks at

by Dr. Leslee Quick

Agida, Heartburn and all things GERD

According to the American Gastroenterological Society, Reflux Esophagitis, a.k.a. GERD, affects approximately 60 million people at least once per month. This painful digestive condition occurs when the balance in the digestive system is off-balance.

In a healthy digestive system, ingested food moves from the mouth to the esophagus and into the stomach, where the breakdown process begins. The stomach has two valves that open and close, which allow food to enter and close to allow the breakdown to commence. Stomach acid goes to work to break down that food into smaller parts, which then moves on for either absorption or waste removal.

However, in the case of GERD, the entrance reopens and the acid from the stomach regurgitates back into the esophagus, irritating the delicate lining and creating discomfort.

The most common symptom of GERD is heartburn, the pain that accompanies the irritation. Other common symptoms include: a sour taste in the mouth; chest pain that worsened in a lying or recumbent position; regurgitation of food or liquid and, or soreness or coughing in throat.

A common treatment GERD involves proton pump inhibitors that inhibit associated symptoms. These inhibitors reduce the amount of acid the stomach produces and are now offered in prescription and over the counter drugs such as Prevacid, Nexium, Pepcid, etc.

Unfortunately, these drugs are not without a laundry list of possible side-effects, not to mention they do nothing to actually resolve the actual problem. Such side-effects include diarrhea, headache, abdominal pain, nausea and weight gain. As a chiropractor I also have to keep a close eye on a patient's history as joint pain and bone loss are other possible side-effects of this class of drugs.

But I am startled about deeper, and what I consider controversial, statistics. The "purple pill" Nexium, for example, was the number one medication prescribed to seniors at a profit margin of $6 billion annually. What's startling, aside from the ridiculous profit margin made by the pharmaceutical company, is that seniors eliminate drugs from their body at a much slower rate than their younger adult counterparts. However, seniors are typically prescribed the same dosage, increasing their likelihood for side-effects. Don't forget the patient will likely be prescribed additional drugs to quell the side-effects of the first drug.

Can you see the pattern here? Can you see why the pharma industry is in the multi-billions and our health insurance just keeps increasing? It makes you begin to understand why our insurance rates are skyrocketing and our health industry is in tatters.

Believe it or not, some natural types of remedies to help fight GERD are very possible. Before deciding on any drug ask yourself why you have heartburn? As mentioned previously, it is a symptom and not a disease. Are you intolerant of certain foods? Let's not forget, even though a donut is a delicious treat, you wouldn't find it hanging from a tree or growing from the ground.

Are you deficient in enzymes? Are you taking aspirin or anti-inflammatory drugs for osteoporosis that has heartburn as its own set of side-effects? Prevention is the key and not the drug.

Here are some natural suggestions:

- Drink enough water to help dilute too much acid and normalize pH in the stomach
- Eliminate sugar
- Watch calories and too much fat, although natural fats aren't the problem.

- Digestive enzymes
- Aloe Vera juice
- Probiotics
- Eliminate too many grains as they are digested like sugar and increase insulin levels
- Adequate Vitamin D
- Fresh garlic is also important for stomach health.
- Keep your meals small

Many people ignore the symptoms as an important clue from their body that something is off-kilter and rely on the many popular drugs to suppress the symptoms. Covering up the symptoms will not solve the underlying problem, and if you don't address the cause you will likely end up with more serious problems down the road.

Here's to your health...naturally.

Humbled and honored

To all of my family and friends who honored me on Friday evening at the Good Guy Award's Banquet; thank you so much for your efforts and the great honor that was given to me. I am humbled, not only to be considered worthy of being a Wilmington Good Guy, but also to be considered a friend by so many people.

My sincere thanks go out to the Committee, to all of the speakers, to Bill Robert and the staff at WCTV, to the Knights of Columbus and Pat Mastrorilli, to Steve Bjork, and to my family; especially my wife Carol, who worked so hard to make this event one of the proudest moments of my life.

I am honored and so very proud to represent Wilmington, the community where I was raised and continue to work; where I live and continue to serve. My deepest and most sincere thanks to all of you whom attended,

Chris Neville
Wilmington

Thank you, Lions

Dear Editor:

The Tewksbury Community Pantry board of directors wants to express its appreciation to the Tewksbury Lions' Club for their most recent $5,000 donation. This most generous donation comes at a critical time and will help support the many individuals and families that currently rely on the pantry. As our national economy has continued to flounder, more of our fellow residents have been forced to rely on our local food pantry. Thanks to our generous community in general, and the Tewksbury Lions' Club in particular, we are proud that we have never had to turn anyone away. That is a credit to our entire Tewksbury community. It is a sad reality that other communities are not as fortunate. The Tewksbury community should also know that the Tewksbury Lions' Club has been a long and steady supporter of our local pantry. Since 2000, the Lions have quietly donated nearly $30,000 to our volunteer community effort without fanfare. Without reliable and consistent support from the Lions, and other civic organizations, the pantry would not be able to meet the monthly food supply needs of those we serve. The pantry is pleased to consider the Tewksbury Lions' Club a partner in our ongoing effort to assist those less fortunate in Tewksbury and we are most grateful for their most recent donation during these challenging economic times.

Sincerely,
Todd Johnson

On Friday night, May 14, 2010, the Wilmington "Good Guy" Committee held its annual "Good Guy" award banquet, and Wilmington Police Detective Lieutenant

Chris Neville was chosen as this year's guest of honor.

The "Good Guy" award is given to those who consistently use their talents for the good of the town and its people. Detective Lieutenant Neville was cited for his tireless efforts and his work with, amongst other organizations: the St. Thomas of Villanova Church community; the STAMP Program and the Wilmington Rotary (as well as its InterACT program).

One of the other organizations to which Chris has given much time, effort and talent is Wilmington Community Television. In addition to his award winning "Behind The Badge" program, Chris has served on the WCTV Board of Directors for many years, serving at different times as its President and Treasurer. His efforts on WCTV's behalf have manifested themselves in many ways: as a producer; as a production volunteer; and as a guiding force (along with the rest of the Board) in the relocation of WCTV from its old Swain School home to its new Waltham Street facility.

Over the years he has been a respected voice, a trusted leader, and a valued part of this organization. The many speakers during the "Good Guy" proceedings told of Chris' never-ending local pursuits and activities. We are lucky to be able to take advantage of some of his time and all of his enthusiasm.

WCTV would like to thank Chris for all that he has given to our organization in his time with us. We'd also like to thank the "Good Guy" Committee for telling all of Wilmington what we here at WCTV have known for years - that Detective Lieutenant J. Christopher Neville truly is a good guy. In fact, he is one of the best.

PROGRAM NOTE: WCTV volunteers recorded the entire ceremony and, once the post-production work is done, the "Good Guy" event will be seen in its entirety on WCTV-P, our Public Access Channel (Channel 9 - Comcast / Channel 37 - Verizon). Keep an eye on our program listings for air dates and times once the program is complete. Stay tuned...

Letters to the editor

From the Lydon family

Dear Editor,

As many of you may know, my wonderful husband, Paul Lydon, passed away last month. He was diagnosed with ALS (Lou Gehrig's disease) almost two years ago. The last two years have been very challenging for our family, but our road was made easier by many of you. Paul wrote and re-wrote a thank you letter many times over, but never actually sent it in. I think we were worried about forgetting someone and he also felt that the words were not enough...how can you say "Thank You" for all that you have done?

So, I thought that it was finally time to send in our letter. I know he would be very happy to see it printed here.

I would only like to add a few new friends to our letter.

The Moms Club of Wilmington, in particular JoMarie O'Mahony, whose tireless efforts have been a tremendous help. You are an unbelievable person and friend!

And to Margaret McKenna and Nichols Funeral Home-Thank you so much for all your help during a very difficult time. You took such good care of me and I really do appreciate it.

A few others to mention: The Boy Scouts of America Pack 361, WYSA, Kim & Jim Peterson, The teachers & staff at the Shawsheen school, Eisai, Inc. and Nancy Beane of the NEBA.

There are so many others who have helped us in many ways and we are so very thankful.

We really have been Blessed.

With much love and thanks, Alice

Friends, family, and a great community make it easier

December 2009

Dear Editor,

As we celebrate Christmas and launch into a new year, we would like to pause and count our many blessings. This past year has held many challenges that our family has overcome with the help of many extraordinary people. We would like to take a moment and thank them publicly.

The extended Lydon and McCusker clans; brothers and sisters are defined by blood and marriage, family is defined by their love and commitment to each other. We are very fortunate to have such wonderful family around us. Rest easy Dad, we are almost done!

The Friends of the Lydon Family put together some incredible fundraisers to help us finance the project. They are a force of nature and their efforts are greatly appreciated.

Bob Troy, general contractor and great guy. On top of the roof or beneath the basement he is always there when you need him. Deb and Al Marzi, who live a few feet away next door, but are even closer in our hearts.

E. F. Shea, Murray Brothers and Aggregate Industries for getting us started on the right foot.

Columbia Construction Company for a terrific framing job.

Paul Raffi not only did a superb job plumbing, but his family donated the Taj Mahal of playground sets.

Hanley windows and Bill Dolan for the extremely generous contribution, the windows look fantastic. We are also grateful for the incredibly talented group of volunteers who installed them and stripped the siding from the house "in their spare time" while we were away. We spent the week in Disney (thanks Kevin), but the real magic happened here!

Dana Wallboard for their generosity (and their ability to deliver in tight quarters). Keith and Butch did a wonderful job hanging the board and made it look easy while doing it; Joe Sullivan for doing a first class plaster job, and Steve Berghaus for really neat painting to finish it off.

Electricians Rich Casey, Jimmy, Steve, Billy and George for running miles of wire and scores of lights. Tom Watson provided handsome bathroom fixtures, Eddie Scalzi did a masterful job on the tile donated by Joe Merullo of Tile Showcase in Natick.

Dave Kindred, Robert Plunkett & Co. for donating the carpet in the boys' room, and Nick Ardagna of Closet Classics for installing new closets (which my wife promptly confiscated). When it comes to hardwood floors, there is only one Vinco.

The Lahgone Brothers have done an incredible job with the landscaping all year long, thank you guys!

Mrs. Warren and the staff at Brookside Nursery School, because children, like houses, need strong foundations.

The clergy and our fellow parishioners at St. Thomas, because of your support my yoke is easy, and my burden is light. We also appreciate the Wilmington police and fire departments for rendering assistance quickly on a couple of occasions, and always with dignity.

And last but not least, our warmest thanks to every friend and neighbor who has dropped off a meal, shoveled a driveway, or given us a ride somewhere - it's people like you that make this a great town!

Happy New Year to all.
The Lydon family

WILMINGTON - Open every Wednesday (10 a.m. - 7 p.m.) and Saturday (10 a.m. - 4 p.m.), the Book Store Next Door (183 Middlesex Ave.) has become Wilmington's home for used books. The Decade 2010 program highlights the breadth and depth of this grand handbell instrument of six octaves of handbells and seven octaves of handchimes. New England Ringers has reawakened "Tempest" which serves as one of the all-time favorites and most requested piece from past repertoires. Depicting the driving rain and lightning of a dramatic storm, the intensity is palpable in this exciting composition by Kevin McChesney. "7/8 Lay Them Straight" by Hart Morris will challenge any audience member to sit still in their seat. "Spirit Wind" flies from beginning to end leaving both ringers and audience members breathless. Debussy's "Arabesque" and "The Sunken Cathedral" showcase the more artistic side of New England Ringers demonstrating the ringers' abilities to master any musical genre with style and grace. As the lowest bass chimes speak in "The Sunken Cathedral," imagine, if you will, the great cathedral sinking into the depths of the sea and then rising again with the glory of the full ensemble sound.

"We like to offer our audiences a program that mixes the familiar with the new and original," comments NER Music Director, Edward G. Henderson, Jr.

Performances showcase the ringers' ability to perform a varied repertoire with experience, discipline and skill to achieve their signature artistry with the handbell instrument. With its commitment to musical excellence, focus on eclectic programming to appeal to a variety of musical tastes and a healthy dash of showmanship, NER has been entertaining audiences of all ages for ten exciting years.

NER was formed in 2000 and in a short time has become one of the foremost handbell ensembles in the country. Members, chosen by audition and invitation, are from Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut and Rhode Island. Rehearsals are held in Greenfield, Massachusetts every other week for three and a half hours, requiring most members to drive over two hours, each way. They bring with them an array of musical experience, including piano, organ, and percussion. The fourteen members have over two hundred fifty years of combined handbell experience.

NER has appeared in concert throughout New England, New York, and Pennsylvania. Their CD, "Ringing in the Holidays," is a live recording of the 2005 annual holiday concert at the Rogers Center for the Arts. For additional information on upcoming performances, call 978-851-3024, send an e-mail to info@newenglandringers.org or visit the NER website at www.newenglandringers.org

Local students graduate from Becker College

WORCESTER - The following residents were among 354 graduates awarded degrees at the 222nd commencement of Becker College, held on May 8, 2010: Danielle M. Welch graduated with a Bachelor of Arts in Early Childhood Education and Amanda Michele Fogaren graduated with a Bachelor of Science in Veterinary Science Pre-Veterinary. Both are from Tewksbury.

Smallpox: A Disease of the Past

Public Health Museum spring conference

TEWKSBURY - Katherine Domoto, M.D., M.B.A., President of the Public Health Museum in Massachusetts, proudly announces that the Public Health Museum's spring conference will host the celebration of 30th anniversary of the eradication of small pox. "We are pleased and honored to have such outstanding individuals in their individual field of expertise present at 'A Generation Without Smallpox' on Monday, May 17, 2010. Come hear the perspectives of those directly involved in small pox eradication!"

The eradication of smallpox was a milestone in human history, perhaps the most significant single public health victory of the 20th century. The only human disease to be eradicated! You will hear from the frontline public health heroes whose diligence and dedication, coupled with extraordinary international political will, led to the complete elimination of one of the most severe threats to human health and life.

The smallpox story puts us in mind of the prospects of eradicating other diseases, with poliomyelitis, measles and Guinea worm (dracunculiasis) being at the head of the list. Hear about the current status of disease eradication efforts and collaborations forged between governments, nongovernmental agencies and philanthropic organizations.

This conference coincides with a new smallpox exhibit, Smallpox: A Disease of the Past at the Public Health Museum. If you are deaf or hard of hearing, or a person with a disability that requires accommodation, please contact Marilyn DelValle at 781-774-6733.

The conference will take place on Monday, May 17, 2010 from 1 - 5 p.m., at the Public Health Museum located in the Old Administration Building, Tewksbury Hospital, 365 East Street, Tewksbury.

Presenters:
Alfred DeMaria, Jr., Massachusetts State Epidemiologist, MDPH, Moderator

Jane Stebbins Flower, Peace Corps Volunteer, WHO Eradication Program, Afghanistan, 1969-1971

T. Stephen Jones, CDC, WHO Smallpox Eradication Program, India and Bangladesh, 1974-1976; CDC Smallpox Vaccination Termination, 1979-1982

Mark LaPointe, CDC, WHO Smallpox Eradication Program, Mali, 1969-1971, Bangladesh, 1975

Jill Vickers, Peace Corps Volunteer, WHO Smallpox Eradication Program, Afghanistan, 1969-1970; Co-Producer, "Once in Afghanistan", 2008

Jason Weisfeld, CDC, WHO Smallpox Eradication Program, India, Bangladesh and Somalia, 1975-1976, 1977-1981

The $40 conference registration fee includes refreshments and day-of-conference museum admission; $20 students and seniors (65+)

Value Pack - Add $10.00 to your registration fee and receive a one-year Public Health Museum regular membership—a savings of $15.00 and your chance to support the first public health museum in the country (new members)

The Public Health Museum is a non-profit educational and cultural museum dedicated to preserving artifacts and records of our nation's history in public health. The Museum also serves as a resource to the community educating and promoting public health initiatives that address current health issues.

The Public Health Museum located in Tewksbury, Massachusetts, is housed in the Old Administration Building of Tewksbury Hospital. Tewksbury Hospital was established in 1852 as a state almshouse to care for the poor who included a growing number of immigrants. In 1900, the Hospital name was changed to Tewksbury State Hospital, Massachusetts State Infirmary in 1908, and Tewksbury State Hospital and Infirmary in 1938. It is now known as Tewksbury Hospital.

The City of Boston and the Commonwealth of Massachusetts are rich in history, but few know the integral role they played in the development of public health. As early as the 1700's, Boston, serving as the first line of defense against smallpox, held ships quarantined in the harbor to protect the general population. In 1796, Boston established the first Board of Health in the nation; its first sitting President was Paul Revere.

The mission of the Public Health Museum is two-fold: to maintain and grow the exhibits, artifacts and historical documents available to the public, and to serve as a resource for researching historical data.

For further information, please visit the Museum's website at www.publichealthmuseum.org

Larisa Anderson receives degree

KEENE, NH - Keene State College has announced the names of 744 students who were candidates for graduation this month with associate's, bachelor's, or master's degrees.

Among the participants in the May 8 commencement ceremony was Larisa Lee Anderson of Wilmington, who was awarded a Bachelor of Arts degree.

Keene State College, New Hampshire's public liberal arts college, offers 40 major programs and is known for its integrative studies, commitment to service, and ability to prepare students for productive work and citizenship. The College, a vibrant educational community in the heart of New England, has an enrollment of 5,500 full- and part-time students.

Wilmington Rotary Club

It's trivia time again

WILMINGTON - The Second Annual Wilmington Rotary Club Trivia Night is fast approaching, and tickets have been going fast.

Last year's inaugural Trivia Night boasted a full house and was a huge success. The Knights of Columbus team took home the overall first place trophy for 2009, but most of the other teams vowed vengeance in 2010. Don't wait - get your team registered as soon as possible while room is still available.

Trivia Night takes place on Friday, June 11, at the Knights of Columbus Hall and is limited - due to space - to a maximum of 55 four-person teams.

Put your brain trust together and join the fun.

Whether consisting of family members, neighbors, co-workers; Wilmington Rotary club wants your team involved. In fact, the Rotary is looking forward to friendly competition between sub-groups. Banks vs. banks, restaurants vs. restaurants, families vs. families, law office vs. law office, service groups vs. service groups, and real estate agents vs. real estate agents - the potential is unlimited.

Teams will face three rounds of twenty-five questions. Topics will include sports, entertainment (music and movies), history, and Wilmington-specific questions as well. Teams will produce written answers on the provided score sheets. Scores will be tallied and the next round will begin. Running scores will be posted at the end of each round for teams to track their standings.

The scoring system will reveal an overall winning team at the end of the evening, but will also identify the top scoring team for each sub-category. Prizes will be awarded for overall performance, as well as for the various categories.

Best of all, the proceeds raised from the event will benefit Rotary Club scholarships for Wilmington students attending any high school and preparing for college.

The Rotary Club is the largest donor of scholarships in the Town of Wilmington contributing over $30,000 a year to graduating seniors.

Over the years, the club has raised and donated hundreds of thousands of dollars.

The fun-filled evening, which begins promptly at 7:00 p.m., will feature raffles and a cash bar. The cost is $100 per team, and all teams are made up of four people. Teams are encouraged to bring their own munchies, but pizza will be provided for all courtesy of Eastern Bank.

WCTV will record the event for future broadcast.

Want in? Contact the Trivia Master, Harry Cunningham, at 978-657-7633 or at 978-944-0155.

Everybody loves this year's Wilmington's Good Guy, Chris Neville - even people that he's arrested over the years. Career criminal Vinnie Boombaas (a.k.a. Tom Pazyra) got a furlough from the Billerica House of Correction in order to pay his respects to Chris.

felony larceny charge Nehme is accused of taking money to complete repairs that included replacing parts, but instead police say he spray painted old parts to make them look new. The vehicle's owner discovered the alleged scam when he took the car to a different repair service.

Police Detective Lieutenant

Christopher Neville told the Crier this week that the gas station is open however the accused, Nehme, moved his tools out of the business at the end of last week at the request of the owner. He is no longer doing repair work at the business and the business appears to be operating legitimately.

Additional complaints police investigated included Nehme using customer vehicles for his personal use and accepting money for delayed and uncompleted repairs. The clerk indicated one of the reasons for dismissing four of the charges was for lack of probable cause. In those cases, the individual victims may choose to sue through civil court.

The Woburn Street School will undergo a significant flooring upgrade this summer as well. Public Buildings will remove and replace roughly 30,000 square feet of Vinyl Asbestos Tile (VAT) with Vinyl Composite Tile (VCT). While the VAT is still in good condition, Hooper says that the town wants to remove the materials because, "it's one of those things that we want out of our buildings and it's just getting more costly to do that."

The shiny, new floors will make for a "nice learning environment for the kids," said Hooper.

Those school related projects join the typical work that includes a top-to-bottom clean-up, washing all the furniture, restoring floors to shining condition, renewing all the gymnasium floors, and a complete refresh on the HVAC systems.

Hooper has a staff of 42 people in the Public Buildings Department, most of whom are veterans to their buildings.

"My guys take a lot of pride in their floors, they can do a really nice job," said Hooper. "It's amazing how quick the summer goes by when we are keeping busy."

Other summer projects, not related to schools, include installing new roofs on the Harnden Tavern and the Food Pantry.

Keep your eyes open for pedestrians oncoming traffic in the far lane cannot see adequately.

"It can be hairy at times, it's a very busy place," said Moon. "There have been a few crashes; mostly from people trying to beat the light."

Moon reminds residents to take advantage of crosswalks and signals.

"People tend to become impatient with crosswalks," Moon said. "They need to remember that those are there for a reason."

The 'walk' signal is not broken if the light does not change within a few seconds after pushing the button.

"The light must complete its cycle before the walk signal flashes," Moon said.

Cyclists - and parents remind your kids of this - must follow the rules of the road just like vehicles.

"Bikes ride on the right, stop at stop signs and lights, and always wear a helmet," said Moon. "It's very important."

Pedestrians, on the other hand, walk against traffic, "so you can see what's coming at you. Although when sidewalks are available, walk on those."

Moon adds that it is always a good idea to wear reflective materials, such as a safety vest, and for cyclists to put lights on bicycles, clear in the front, red in the back.

As far as driver distraction goes, Moon wants to see motorists stop using cell phones and texting.

"You can sit there and count car after car with people on the phone," said Moon. Lawmakers on Beacon Hill are dragging their feet on adopting legislation that would outlaw the practice. Six states outlaw hand held cell phone use and 25 states ban texting while driving. Last year in Lowell a Tewksbury man died after driving head-on into a massive tree while sending a text message.

"I really wish the legislature would come down with no texting. It's just too much of a distraction," said Moon.

Last week, in an effort to improve teen driving, police launched Operation Graduation - a joint effort with the Registry of Motor Vehicles Safety and Compliance division.

Moon says the Registry sent an inspector, Robert McCorry, to Wilmington to work with police. Together, police and the inspector greeted 256 drivers entering the student parking lot, among which approximately 40 students were not wearing seat belts. All told, 86 percent of drivers we wearing their belts. Tickets were not handed out, as the program was about raising awareness around driver safety.

Softball team sports sets of sisters, Zaremba's and Crannell's

Double tandem on the Diamond

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

The Wilmington High softball team is in the midst of its best season in many years, with a six game winning streak and an 11-3 overall record as they wind down their regular season and prepare for the Division 2 North Tournament they have already qualified for.

Of course with a season like the one the Wildcats are experiencing there are many reasons why the team has been so successful, and in the case of the Wildcats four of the biggest reasons for the team's success are two pairs of sisters who have each contributed in their own way to this remarkable season.

Senior captain and right fielder Liz Crannell and her younger sister, sophomore shortstop Emily, along with senior second baseman Jackie Zaremba and her younger sister Lauren, a junior second baseman/outfielder, have all played key roles to this point and will continue to do so as the team marches toward the post season.

Of course, being part of a team that is having as much success as the Wildcats are this year would be fun under any circumstances, but for these four sisters and friends, the experience has only been enhanced by being able to go through it together.

For the Zaremba's this season is a continuation of their experience of playing together on this year's Wildcats soccer team. While that season may not have gone exactly as they would have liked, this year has been everything they could have hoped for.

"It's been great this (softball) season," Jackie said. "During soccer I also had a lot of senior friends on the team, but the season did not go so great, so we wanted to make this (softball) season count and we have. We have come through in the clutch."

"And having Lauren with me has been great, especially after playing soccer with her too. We are really close and we are able to give each other extra support. We are really able to help each other."

For Lauren, who plays more of a reserve role this year, but will likely slide into her sister's second base position next year, it has been a great experience to be part of this team and contributing in her way. "It's really fun. I don't play a lot, but it is fun just being together with all of my teammates," Lauren said. "In my role, you always have to be ready to go in and always be on your game. It can be hard sometimes, but it is fun to part of it. It is a lot of fun going through this season with Jackie because we are so close."

The Crannell's are consecutively in the Wildcats batting order with junior Emily betting fourth and senior captain Liz bating fifth. Both have had many big hits for the Wildcats this season and when one of them does come through, they know the first one there cheering them on will be their sister.

They also have enjoyed going through this season with all of their teammates as well as each other.

"It's been great," said Liz, who was also an all-league field hockey player and captain helping the Wildcats enjoy their best season since the early 90s by making it to the Division 2 North sectional quarterfinals. "We are all close and a lot of us have played together since we were little so we bond really well. And it is great having Emily on the team especially because I am a senior and this is our last time playing softball together. We played together on the same team when we were younger that our dad coached, so this is fun to be able to do it this year."

For Emily, a CAL All-Star last year as a freshman — who also was the point guard on this year's basketball team that reached the Division 2 North sectional semi-finals — she has known nothing but success as a member of the Wildcats and she would like for that to continue this year. And the fact that part of that success will mean that she and Liz are experiencing it together makes it even better.

"Liz and I are really close and that's especially true in softball," Emily said. "We are not competitive or anything with each other, but it is just a lot of fun."

In Liz's role as captain she is responsible for leading all of her teammates, but she takes special pride in trying to be a mentor to her younger sister. She has full faith that Emily would be fine on her own, but she does try to lead her younger sister when she can.

"I try to show her what to do, so she will know what to expect if she is a captain next year," Liz said. "But really Emily knows what is expected of her and she does a good job without me telling her what to do."

Jackie is in a similar situation with Lauren. While not a captain, as a senior Jackie is clearly a mentor to the younger players on the team and that includes her younger sister.

"I feel like a mentor to her," Jackie said. "We are only 20 months apart so I try to set a good example for her. She is a great athlete and a great girl herself even without me. I am happy she is my sister."

While some younger sister's may find it difficult to play in the shadow of their elder sibling, that has not been the case at all for Lauren. While she of course would like to play more, she is very happy to learn from her sister until that time comes.

"I definitely look up to her," Lauren said. "She sets a good example for me."

That should come as no surprise for those who know Jackie, or for those who know any of these athletes. In fact, Wilmington coach Audrey Cabral-Pini probably summed it up best in her assessment of the foursome.

"They are the best kids anyone would ever want to meet," Cabral-Pini said. "Anybody can be an athlete, but they are super kids as well. They are the type of kids any parent would want for a daughter."

Of course the fact that they are all superior athletes certainly helps the Wildcats as well. In addition to the fine young ladies that she has on her team, Cabral-Pini also knows she's got some talented players.

Jackie and Lauren have impressed her with their dedication to the team and to improving as players.

"Jackie was going to be a shortstop for us, but as a freshman she filled in whenever we needed her. She learned to play second base and she has improved unbelievably. She has helped turn so many double plays this year. She is focused all the time and always wants to get better."

"Lauren will fill in for Jackie next year when she leaves," she added. "I saw the way she improved in soccer this year and that was very impressive. She has been in her sister's shadow, but she is coming into her own this year. She is always the first one off the bench and she is always willing to do whatever it takes to help the team."

Liz and Emily have been equally impressive for the Wildcats and earned equally high praise from their coach.

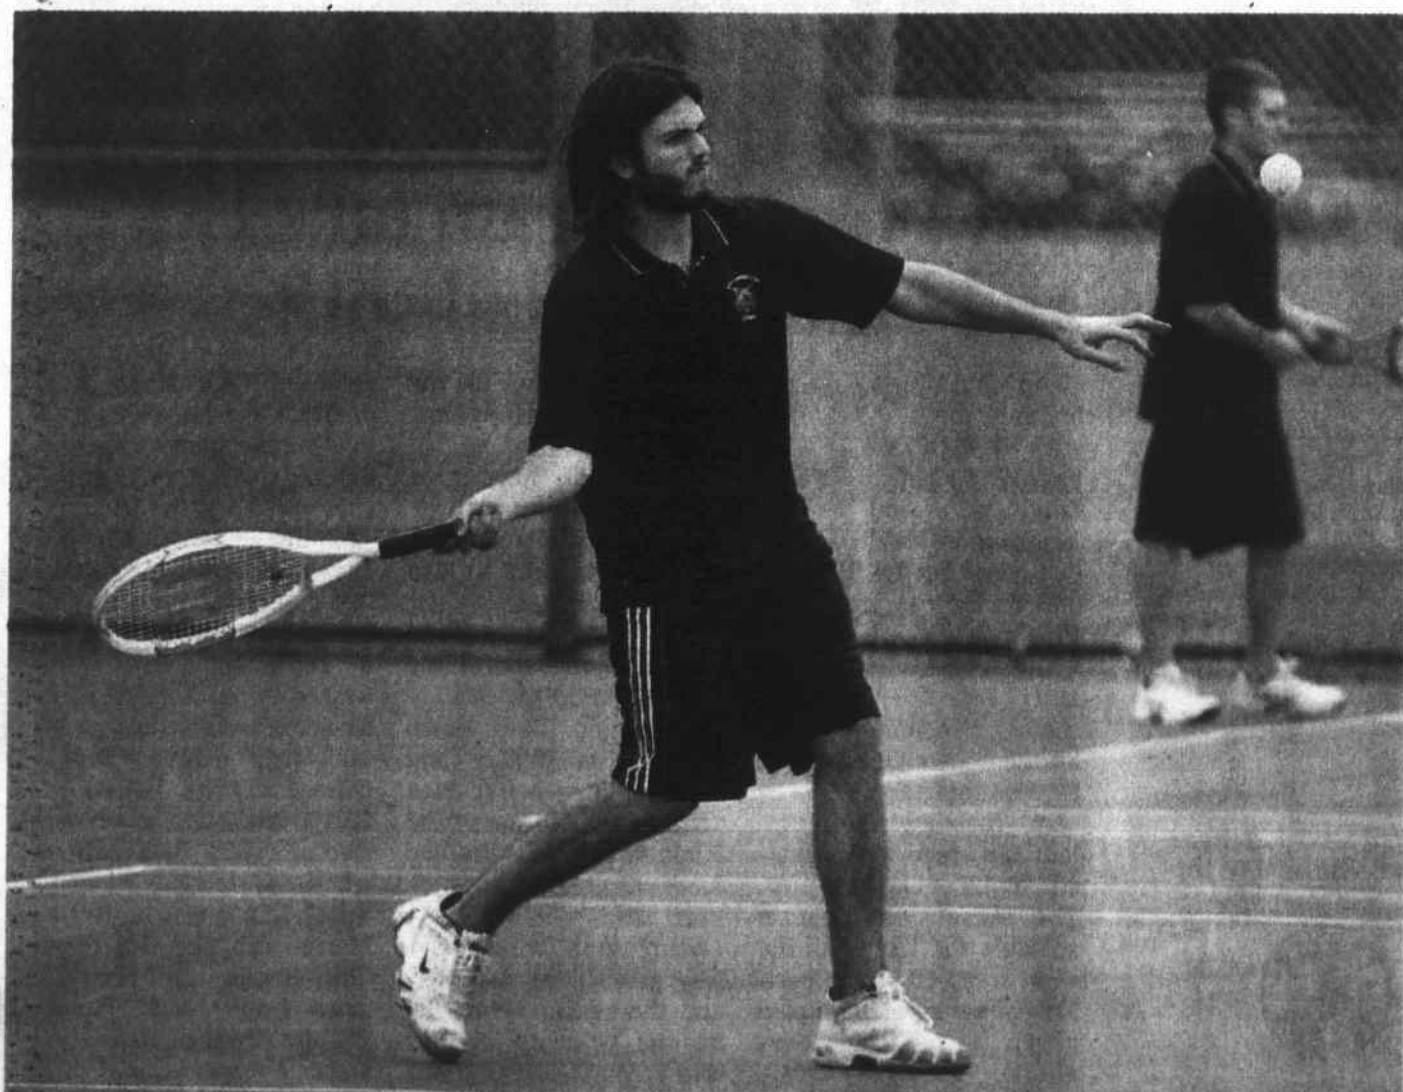

"Liz is usually the one who gets the big RBIs for us," Cabral-Pini said. "She is a team captain and she takes that role seriously. She helps keep the kids united, and will do whatever it takes to lead the team. She is always the last to leave practice."

"Emily is a stud. She has a cannon for an arm and does a great job at shortstop. She is the other half of our great double play combination. She is not hitting quite as much this year as she did last year as a freshman but she always seems to put the ball in play and make something happen. She is already very good defensively and she is only going to get better and better."

Getting better and better seems to be just what the Wildcats as a team are doing as well. And the players are fully confident that their excellent play will continue into the post season. Both seniors feel like the team can make a statement in the Division 2 North Tournament.

"We have high expectations," Jackie Zaremba said. "It's great that we have already qualified for the tournament, and now we just have to stay focused and keep getting better and I think we can do very well."

Liz Crannell agreed, "We are hoping to go far and we feel like this is the year. We feel like we can go the furthest we have since we have been here."

Wilmington-Shawsheen Tech Softball

Wildcats even up series at 1-1

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

WILMINGTON - Perhaps this is how it should be. Two great local softball teams, each with high aspirations for the upcoming post season, so perhaps it is fitting that the squads have now split their head to head meetings. Wilmington High and Shawsheen Tech squared off on Saturday night at Aprile Field in a rematch of a game from earlier this season when Shawsheen prevailed on their home field by a score of 8-3. Since that loss to Shawsheen in their second game of the season, Wilmington has lost only once and they continued their stellar play of late with an 11-5 win over Shawsheen on Saturday led by four RBI from Emily

Saturday night in Wilmington all that mattered to either team was the game in front of them.

"We were ready to play," Wilmington coach Audrey Cabral-Pini. "You could see that from the way we warmed up and the way we got ready for the game."

Wilmington took advantage of some Shawsheen defensive miscues to score five runs in the second inning to take control of the game and extended their lead to 11-0 before the Lady Rams fought back with a run in the sixth and four more in the seventh to give the Wildcats a bit of a scare.

After a scoreless first inning, Wilmington began to break the game open in the second, starting with a single from Bree Parow and they loaded the bases with none out after a Shawsheen error and a base on balls.

Shawsheen pitcher Sara Elwell of Tewksbury nearly worked her way out of the jam forcing a pop up to third and a line drive out to second, but in attempting to double up the runner at first a Shawsheen error allowed Prow to score. A single by Kaitlyn Souza, along with a throwing error by Shawsheen and another single by Brittany McLaughlin scored Jackie Zaremba and Chelsea Westerberg for a 3-0 Wilmington advantage and an Emily Crannell single scored Souza and McLaughlin for the 5-0 lead.

"You have to give Wilmington credit," Shawsheen coach Maureen Buckley said. "We made some mistakes and they made us pay for those mistakes. That is what good teams do."

The Wildcats extended their lead to 8-0 in the fourth inning when Tori Lord reached on an infield single and moved to second on a perfect bunt single by Chelsie Babcock. Moments later Lord scored along with Babcock on a hit by Souza, and Souza would later score after an infield hit by Emily Crannell.

"The bunt by Chelsie was the key to the whole inning," Cabral-Pini said. "She executed it perfectly."

Wilmington extended the lead to 11-0 in the fifth on an RBI single by Blalock which scored Jackie Zaremba.

Babcock meanwhile was doing a stellar job of shutting down the normally potent Shawsheen lineup, allowing only three hits over the first five innings. Overall Babcock would scatter seven hits and walk only batter in the game.

"Chelsie does a good job nibbling around the plate," Cabral-Pini said. "She rarely allows any walks and today was no different for her." Shawsheen did get on the board in the sixth when Meredith Bonugli led off with a single and later scored on a sacrifice fly by Franny Pesantes.

The Lady Rams added four more in the top of the seventh as they refused to go down quietly. This time it was some fielding miscues by the Wildcats that allowed Shawsheen to score some of their runs, but the big blow came on a two RBI double by Jenna Zechner. Brooke Mallahan of Tewksbury also added an RBI during the rally.

"The girls got down for a while and did not know how to react," Shawsheen coach Maureen Buckley said. "We talked about how the way to react to it was to accept it and move on and in the sixth and seventh inning that's what we did. Earlier in the game we had let one error lead to another and to other mistakes. It is the sign of a learning team."

"This game was a good experience for our team," Buckley added. "They are a young team and playing here under the lights and in front of a big crowd will help them down the road. They felt the pressure, but now they know a game is a game."

Cabral-Pini, meanwhile was very pleased with the way her team bounced back from their previous loss to Shawsheen.

"When we played them the second game of the year we were still mixing things around and Kaitlyn (Souza) was still not playing. She adds a different element for us," Cabral-Pini said. "But give Shawsheen credit. They played a great game last time. Sometimes when you get beat like we did it is good because you can come back the second time knowing what you did wrong and work hard not to make those same mistakes."

On Monday, Newburyport crushed Wilmington 8-1 ending the Wildcats' five-game winning streak. McLaughlin was the lone player with multiple hits ending the game with two.

The Wildcats will be back in action with a road trip to North Andover Friday night before coming home for night contests with Masconomet on Monday and Tewksbury on Wednesday.

As for Shawsheen, the Rams will host Chelsea on Thursday and then will travel to face Bishop Fenwick on Friday.

Shawsheen, meanwhile, lost for the first time in five games and saw their record drop to 13-3 overall, while they still hold a perfect 11-0 mark in the Commonwealth Athletic Conference.

Boys Lacrosse team falls twice and baseball squad splits

The Wilmington High School boys' lacrosse squad lost to Lynnfield on Friday 11-6. Peter Leighton and Dan MacKinnon each scored two goals for the Wildcats and Zack Rosa and Brian Priem each contributed with one goal. Sophomore Matt Ferreira had one assist. Freshman goalie Stan Dancewicz made eleven saves in net.

On Tuesday, the boys' lacrosse team was defeated by Manchester 16-6. The season has been a struggle for the Wildcats, who are 2-13, but Coach Mike Fay said the squad always gives tremendous efforts.

"The team plays hard and they work hard," said Fay. "We just have not had any breaks, as we hit the post three times against Manchester."

The Wildcats have three games remaining on their schedule and Fay said the team is not going to give up.

"We are going to fight hard until the end of the season," said Fay.

Wilmington plays North Reading on Friday and hope to have better luck against the Hornets. The Wildcats lost 14-13 the last time the teams met on April 17th.

Wilmington also plays Georgetown on Monday and the season wraps up for the Wildcats on May 26th against Newburyport.

defeated Georgetown 8-3 on Thursday before losing to Newburyport, 12-1 on Saturday. The Wildcats are now 10-4 on the season.

Against Georgetown, Nick Boutoures improved to 3-0 on the season as he fell one out shy of tossing a complete game. He walked seven batters and struck out eight, but gave up just three hits. Offensively he belted a RBI triple but the offensive star was Cole Pepper who had two doubles and knocked in four runs. Brett Meuse also had two doubles, while, Jeff Harris, Sean Hanley and Evan Butters knocked in single runs.

Triton edges out Wildcats on the court

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

The Wilmington High girls tennis team lost a hard fought battle with Cape Ann League rival Triton on Monday afternoon, dropping their record on the season to 3-8 overall and 2-8 in the Cape Ann League.

Despite the loss the Wildcats got several outstanding efforts on the day, including senior tri-captain Jessica Burke in first singles who won the 25th match of her career by a score of 6-4, 6-4.

Wildcats coach Kevin Welch has gotten all he could have expected from Burke this season and has been very happy with the results.

"I am very impressed with her play this year," Welch said. "She is definitely the most successful number one singles player I have had the opportunity to coach. She is a smart, confident player and her record (8-2) shows it."

Fellow tri-captains Alex Copp and Christine Woods were unable to pick up wins in second and third singles, losing in straight sets, but Welch knows it was not for lack of effort, or for lack of playing well. In fact, he was very pleased with how both played.

"Alex played a very good number two. Number two and number three is the strength of Triton," Welch said. "She played better than the scores reflect. She had a lot of good shots out there today."

"Christine played a good match," Welch added. "I was very impressed with her second set. During her second set she picked up her intensity and played a very competitive set. She was the last on the court and although she lost I would not change anything about the way she played. She gave all she had."

The first doubles team of Jill Lacey and Kelly Duffy lost a heartbreaker to Triton's Sidney White and Emily Trye by a score of 4-6, 6-2, 6-4.

"Triton took the momentum in the second set, but Kelly and Jill battled back in the third," Welch said. "It was a very intense match. Triton was little stronger at the net and in the end that is what the difference was in the match."

Alyssa Fiorentino and Christi Bush won their second doubles match by a score of 6-2, 6-4, impressing Welch with the way they earned the victory.

"This was a big step for them," Welch said. "It was a match they should have won. The battled themselves a bit in the second, but they were able to close Triton out in two sets. Finishing sets off is the hardest things to do in a tennis match and they were able to refocus and finish the set. This win should help them move forward this year and into next season."

Girls Lacrosse team dominates Burlington

By MIKE GIANNATTASIO
Sports Correspondent

The Wilmington High School girls' lacrosse got their fifth win of the season last Wednesday as they crushed Burlington 16-2. One of the reasons why the Wildcats played so successfully is because they had goals from eleven different players.

Senior defenseman Danielle Polcari had a tremendous game for Wilmington as she scored her first varsity goal. Allie Robbins was also terrific as she had three goals and two assists. Jacqui Lyman, Holly Niemiec, and Katilyn McGuire each scored two goals. Kellie Moon had one goal and two assists, and Kellyn Campbell and Bryanne Mara each contributed with one goal and one assist. Ashley Gonzalez, Katelyn Hayes, and Nicole D'Agostino scored one goal each. Junior Jessica Weaver had two assists.

Goalies Nicole Luz and Emily O'Donoghue had 16 saves out of 18 shots.

Last Thursday, the Wildcats were defeated by Woburn 17-11. Fiona Gately and Gonzalez scored two goals each. Robbins had four goals and Lyman had three assists. Moon, Niemiec, and Mara each scored one goal, and Campbell had one assist. Luz saw 27 shots in net and had 10 saves in the loss.

Wilmington played in a very exciting game on Monday. The Wildcats played North Reading and outshot them 37-16, but North Reading went on to win the game 9-8. Robbins scored four goals and had two assists. Gately scored two goals, and Mara and McGuire each had one. Moon and Niemiec each contributed with one assist.

Wilmington is 5-10 this season with three games remaining. The squad hosted Burlington on Wednesday with results not being known as of presstime. Wilmington plays Georgetown on Thursday and the team's last game of the season is Monday versus Newburyport.

Boys Tennis team making big strides

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

Things are finally looking up for the Wilmington High boys tennis team. After a season's worth of hard work and dedication to the team the Wildcats have begun to see the reward for their efforts in the win column, as they have won three matches in a row to improve their record on the season to 4-8.

The Wildcats won their opening match of the season this year, and since then had dropped eight in a row before this week's winning streak which included two wins over Cape Ann League rival Triton and a win over non-league foe Billerica.

"The boys are playing well," first year coach Rob Mailey said. "They are playing smarter and their hard work is paying off. They are doing much better."

The Wildcats have been dominant during their win streak, winning each of the matches by a score of 5-0. Most recently they picked up the win over Billerica at home on Tuesday.

Cody O'Connor won first singles by a score of 6-4, 6-1, while senior captain Dana Ferranti won second singles by a score of 3-6, 6-3, 6-4 and Jon Rizzo took third singles 2-6, 7-6, 7-6.

"Cody played very well in first singles. He played very smart," Mailey said. "Dana had a good match and he just eventually wore out the other kid. He played very well on the big points. And Rizzo's match was a marathon, but he just had a little more left at the end than the other kid."

Alex Leiskau and Brady Datwill won first singles by a score of 6-3, 2-6, 7-5, with the third set decided by a tiebreaker due to rain, while Chuck Barbaro and Colin Foley took second singles by a score of 6-2, 6-1.

"That was Chuck and Colin's best match of the year," Mailey said. "They were dominant."

On Monday the Wildcats hosted Triton and this time they were even more dominant in their 5-0 victory as they won each match in straight sets.

O'Connor took first singles 6-1, 6-0, Adam Kline won second singles 6-2, 6-0 and Dana Ferranti won third singles 6-0, 6-0, while in doubles action Leiskau and Datwill won by a score of 6-3, 6-1 and Barbaro and Foley won 6-3, 6-2.

Last Wednesday at Triton, the Wildcats won also won each match in straight sets in their 5-0 win.

"It's very satisfying for everyone to get some wins, especially our seniors," Mailey said. "They deserve it. They have been working hard all year and now they are finally getting some breaks. It's too bad the season is almost over because we are playing so much better than at the beginning of the year."

Wildcat Tennis Clinic

Boys team finishes 11th at Class C State Relay Meet

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

The Wilmington High boys track team competed in the State Coaches Division 3 Relays at Milton High last Saturday afternoon and the Wildcats had a very good day, finishing 11th in a field of 29 teams from around the state, getting several surprising performances throughout the day to propel them to their strong finish.

The top finishers of the day for the Wildcats were the pole vault team of Mike Donnell, James Marra and Jonathan Terlaga. Donnell cleared 9-6.25 feet, while Marra cleared nine feet and Terlaga was at eight feet.

Their finish was all the more remarkable given the injury status of Donnell and Terlaga.

"That was a shocker," Wilmington coach Bob Cripps said. "Donnell is just coming back from injury and his previous best was eight feet. Marra had his personal best, and Terlaga was in so much pain with bruised ribs that we decided that he should just take on shot at eight feet, and he got it done."

"They were very happy with themselves, as they should be."

The 4 x 200 team of Liam Gately, Marc Shibilila Marty Bamberg and Caleb Rogers earned a fifth place finish with their season best time of 1:34.79, while the 4 x 400 team also had a season best of 3:33.62 behind the efforts of Gately, Tom Valente, Bamberg and Rogers to earn a sixth place finish.

The other big surprise of the day came in the 4 x 800 where Kevin Flaherty, DJ Livermore, Zach Sears and Joe Warren placed fourth in a time of 8:32.21.

"It was a big surprise because Flaherty has run the mile most of the time and Livermore is just back from injury, but still ran a 2:08 in his leg," Cripps said. "His best had been 2:28. Warren, Flaherty and Sears all ran very well. Zach ran a 2:11 and he is usually a two miler for us."

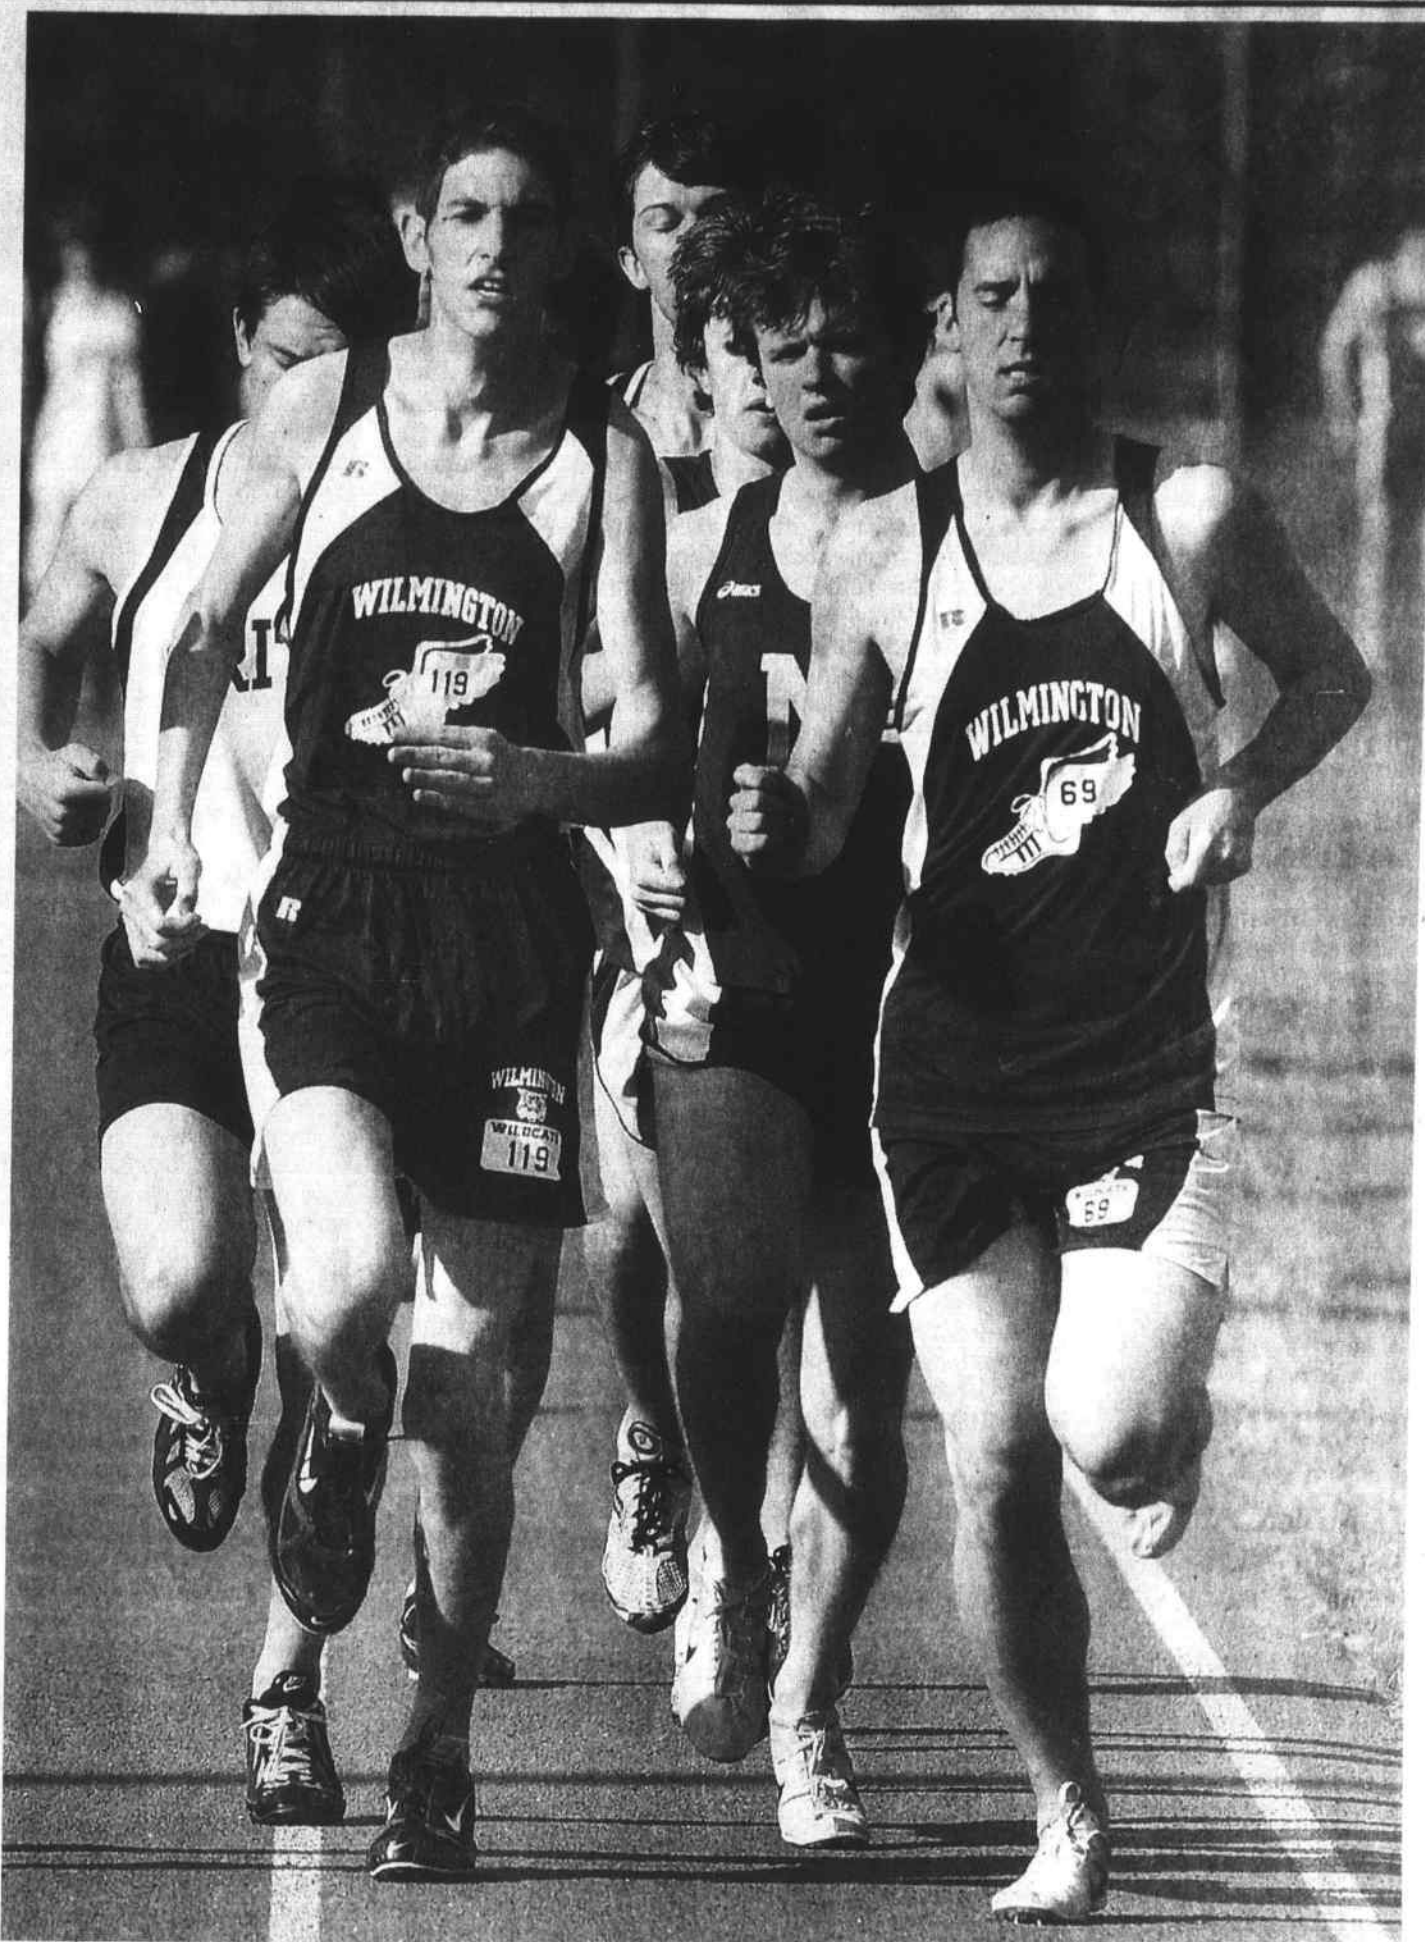

The Wildcats got a fifth place finish in the javelin behind Valente's 153-4, Dan Baima's 127-0 and Gately's 124-0. Valente's throw was good enough for a fourth place individual finish.

On Saturday the Wildcats will compete the Cape Ann League Meet at Hamilton-Wenham High School and once again they will be well represented as they look to make another strong showing.

The Wildcats will have three competitors in both the 800 and the javelin with Rogers, Warren and Flaherty in the 800 and Valente, Baima and Rogers in the javelin.

Shibilila will race in the 100, while Gately and Rich Barry will compete in the 200 and Bamberg and Valente will run the 400. Sears will race in the two mile while Weber will race in the 400 hurdles and Donnell will race in the high hurdles.

Flaherty and Gordie Fitch will compete in the discus, while Fitch will compete in the shot put and Shibilila will compete in his third event, the long jump.

Bay State Games

The Massachusetts Amateur Sports Foundation has opened registration for the 2010 spring edition of the Kids Fitness Challenge held June 1-4. Principals, physical education and health teachers at elementary and middle schools across the commonwealth are encouraged to sign up to take part in the Challenge as valuable cash grants will be awarded to selected participating schools.

In November, in excess of 22,000 kids from schools across Massachusetts took part in the fall edition of the Kids Fitness Challenge. Since its inception in the fall of 2006, hundreds of schools and nearly 100,000 elementary and middle school kids from Provincetown to Williamstown have participated in the program, making it a true state-wide event with more than $12,000 in grants having been distributed.

The Kids Fitness Challenge, presented by the Bay State Games with contributing funds from the Boston Bruins Foundation, is a free program designed exclusively for Massachusetts elementary and middle school students. Participating schools and students engage in a 30 minute segment of physical activity from June 1-4. Schools can also use an existing program or event, such as a field day, that is scheduled to be held in the weeks preceding or proceeding the dates of the Challenge. The only constraints are that the students must be aware that they are participating in the Kids Fitness Challenge, must meet the 30 minute activity requirement, and have 100 percent student participation. Following the event, a teacher or principal needs only to contact the Bay State Games office to report that the Challenge has been completed, and the school will then be entered into a drawing to win one of four $500 grants. The grant is awarded to the winning school to support health and physical education programs.

To register online, to receive a brochure or for more general information about the Kids Fitness Challenge, please visit baystategames.org, call the Bay State Games office at (781) 932-6555 or e-mail Peter Cohenno at peter@baystategames.org.

Youth Softball/Little League Round-Up

Mills and Howland help U16 Red Softball team

U16 Blue 18, U16 Red 7

In Senior Softball League action this week the U16 Red team began the game against the U16 Blue team with a five run 1st inning, only to see Blue come roaring back to win 18-7. RBI singles by Rachel Mills and Megan Howland got the Red team off to a good start. In the bottom of the first inning Blue went to work with RBI singles by Nicki Lunt, Katherine McKenna and Ashleigh Howland. Blue pitchers Jillian Williams and Casey MacDonald then shut down the Red offense for the next four innings. MacDonald had seven strikeouts in her three innings worked. Lunt came on in the last inning to strike out two.

Offensively for Blue Katherine McKenna, Ashleigh Howland and Erin Duffy all had three hits. McKenna's third hit of the game was a triple, which drove in two runs. McKenna and Howland also each drove in four runs a piece. Duffy and MacDonald each had two RBI's. One of MacDonald's came on a perfect sacrifice bunt in the third inning, which scored Howland. Other Blue hits belonged to Robin Hollenbeck, Lauren McKenna and Megan Priem, with Priem's a RBI double in the third. Red hits came off the bats of Megan Stone, Rachel Mills, Megan Howland, Lauren Mulligan and Kim Woods. Some nice defensive plays were turned in by Howland at first base, Mills on a comebacker to the mound, Marissa Russo in right field and Alliy Gemellaro at the catching position.

Katherine McKenna and Katie Finn each played well behind the plate for Blue and the defensive play of the game came when Lauren McKenna at first base, stabbed a line drive to end the game. Speed was also a highlight in this game as Ashleigh Howland swiped four bases. Hollenbeck and Katherine McKenna each had three steals. Megan Howland for the Red team also had three stolen bases.

Landscape Express 9, U16 Blue 8

The U16 Blue team travelled to the EE Little Field in North Reading to take on the Landscape Express team. It was a well-played game by both sides with some excellent pitching performances. Blue got their runs early as they took an 8-3 lead into the bottom of the third inning. North Reading would nibble away with two runs in the third, one run each in both the fifth and sixth and set up an exciting seventh inning. In the top of the seventh Blue got two runners on with one out but they were left stranded and Wilmington went into the bottom of the seventh leading 8-7. With one out, North Reading got a base runner on with a walk and then their third hitter lined a ball down the left field line, which went for a walk-off game winning two-run home-run.

North Reading's third pitcher of the night came on in the third and finished the game with 13 strikeouts and only two walks allowed. Wilmington also saw good pitching from Casey MacDonald with six strikeouts and Jillian Williams allowing no hits and striking out three.

Blue was held to only five hits, with singles from Williams, MacDonald, Katherine McKenna and Kelsey Finn. Erin Duffy had a double in the third inning. Williams and Robin Hollenbeck each had two stolen bases. Wilmington turned a double play in the second inning when Williams at second base caught a pop up and quickly got the ball to shortstop Nicole Potcner, covering second base, to catch the North Reading runner off the base.

U16 Red 14, U16 Blue 10

A make-up of an earlier rain out saw the U16 Blue and Red teams meet up for the second time this season and this time, Red pulled out the win with a six-run last inning which included a three-run homerun by Kim Woods. After two innings Blue had a 10-4 lead that would hold until the 5th when Red scored four and then six runs in the sixth to win it. Megan Howland came on to pitch for Red in the third and shut down the Blue offense, scattering three hits and two walks, striking out four and allowing only one run in her four innings of work. Howland also had one of her team's seven hits. Lauren Thompson had three RBI's. Alliy Gemellaro had two hits. Megan Stone, Kennedy Harper, and Marissa Russo also had hits for Red. Besides Woods' game winning blast she also scored three runs and had three stolen bases.

The Blue offense came from Robin Hollenbeck with a double and three runs scored, a first inning RBI-triple from Lauren McKenna, and a RBI double from Nicki Lunt. Jackie Kennedy returned to the lineup and got two hits and two RBI's. Katherine McKenna and Megan Priem also had hits for Blue. Katie and Kelsey Finn drew back-to-back bases loaded walks to notch RBIs. Jillian Williams was robbed of a hit in the sixth with a nice running catch by Woods in centerfield. Kennedy Harper also made a nice defensive play on a ball hit back to the mound by Jessica Kasperian. Katherine McKenna continued her strong play behind the plate when she caught a Red baserunner attempting to steal in the third inning.

Major League Baseball
The Yankees defeated the Indians 5-1 led by a three-hit night from Billy Falter. Yankees pitchers Pat Finn, Trevor Worthington and Billy Dorian went two innings each. Jack Bertolami pitched an outstanding game for the Indians, while hits came from Zach Ahlin, David Bell and Andrew Hanlon.

Paced by the hitting of Justin Kannally, Matt Woods and Eric Steeves the Twins defeated the Athletics by a score of 10-1. Twins pitchers Cole Walsh, Ryan Maher and Max Hubbard held the A's to only one hit, a double that was crushed to left field by Scott Newton.

Tigers vs White Sox

The Tigers scored 7 runs in the fifth inning to break away from the White Sox in a close game. Jake Fulkerson and Mike Capistran had the key hits in the inning. Ryan Donnell and Jared Spinney pitched for the Tigers allowing four hits over six innings. Luke Garrity, Nick Russo and Ryan Warner lead the attack for the White Sox with Russo picking up two RBI.

Yankees 6, Twins 3

Led by great pitching from Pat Finn and Brian Moran, the Yankees edged the Twins 6-3, in what was a great defensive game by both teams. Anthony Brown, Billy Falter and David Woods collected key hits contributing to the Yankee cause despite the strong pitching from Matt Woods and Justin Kannally of the Twins. The Twins' Brian Cavanaugh connected for his second home run of the season, Mike Carroccino, Matt Coleman and Max Hubbard also had hits for the Twins.

Red Sox 2 Orioles 0

In a great pitchers duel between Jackson Gillis of the Red Sox and Peter Daley of the Orioles, the Red Sox came out on top 2-0. The Red Sox scored their first run in the second inning on a walk to Doug Millar and a double by Darren McEchechen. Darren also scored the Red Sox second run in the sixth inning.

Jackson Gillis struck out ten Orioles in five innings, while only giving up two Oriole hits to Matt Sutton and John Pasquariello. Peter Daley struck out eleven Red Sox, while only giving up two hits. Danny Stein also had a hit. Great defense was played by shortstops Justin Leger of the Orioles and Dom Malatesta of the Red Sox.

Orioles 13 White Sox 9 (eight innings)

John Pasquariello broke a 9-9 tie in extra innings to give the Orioles a 13-9 win in eight innings. The Orioles scored two in the first inning on hits by Peter Daley and Justin Collins. Single A:

The Royals and Pirates excited a large crowd with a well played back and forth baseball game on Friday night. The Pirates pitchers, Sean Devlin, Aditya Gautham, and Noah Ferrer pitched strong and kept things close as Riley McCue and Nick Kullman were solid behind the plate. Timely hitting from Dylan Bresnahan, Kyle Kenyon, Pete Marino, and Ben Maynard, along with crafty defense from Devlin Clerico, Cam Martin and Joey Dumoulin fueled an impressive night for the Pirates.

The Royals were equally impressive as pitchers Michael Fiorenza and Christopher Stokes shined as they were backed by solid defense from Mark Leone, Tim Scalese, Mikey Champoux, Aidan Coakley, Ankur Neogi, and Coleman Kelly. Dennis Rooney, Michael Fothergill, Ryan Collins, Nolan Kane, and Joseph Desario chipped in with strong at bats, completing a total team effort for the Royals.

Mariners vs. Pirates:

The pitching was tremendous for the Mariners the night they played the Pirates. On the mound for the Mariners were Tim Kippenberger and Nick Herlihy. Both pitchers held the big bats of the Pirates at bay. Offensively for the Mariners Joe McInerney and Richie McNamara had two hits a piece. Also helping out the Mariners offense with great at bats were Tucker Byrne, Robbie Farrell, Jake Dugan and Kyle Bacon. Defensively Matt Campbell, Max Shapiro, Ryan Butler, Chris Spinazola and Ben Wright played the field with great poise.

The Pirates had some good pitching that night from Pete Marino, Riley McCue, Cam Martin, and Dylan Bresnahan. Offensively the Pirates had monster bashes from Ben Maynard and Riley McCue. Joey Dumoulin Kyle Kenyon helped with the Pirates' offensive attack. Great infield defense was lead by Devin Clerico, Nick Kulman, Noah Ferrer, Harry Germano. John Aylward led the scoring with a hat-trick, followed by Brandon Hibner with two goals, while Bryant Bonaiuto and Tim Donovan each contributed goals too. Even the Arlington coach commented on the fabulous game that Michael Brawley had in goal - his saves were spectacular throughout the game. The defense was down a key player, but Dan Donovan, Joshua Cho, and Henry Roberts held Arlington's top offense to six goals in regulation - five less than any other game for Arlington this season.

in scoring was James Sullivan with four goals. Other goal scorers included Andrew Rogers and John Casey. On attack Cole Iovine added two assists. Also playing well on offense were James Hirtle, Thomas Catyb, Colin Quinn, and Justin McColgan. Tewksbury's defense played especially well holding Andover to only three goals. Defensemen Ryan Cunningham, Garret Christopher, and Daniel D'Entremont all helped protect Tewksbury's lead throughout the game. Goalie Zak Zahiri didn't face many shots only having to make six saves to preserve the win. Helping step up Tewksbury's physical play were Ryan Carey and Matthew Lacascia.

Shawsheen Tech Sports Round-Up

Softball team takes two league games

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

The Shawsheen Tech softball team suffered just their third loss of the season this week with an 11-5 setback to non-league foe Wilmington, but sandwiched around that loss were two more key Commonwealth Athletic Conference victories which moved the Lady Rams closer to a possible league title as well as a potential berth in the State Vocational Tournament.

Last Thursday at Shawsheen the Lady Rams downed CAC rival Presentation of Mary Academy of Methuen by a score of 12-2 and they followed that up with another home win on Monday, this time over Whittier Tech by a score of 4-1.

The two wins improved Shawsheen to 14-3 overall on the season with a perfect 12-0 mark in the CAC.

In the win over Whittier, Shawsheen did a fine job of bouncing back from their loss to Wilmington with a well played game against a quality opponent. And they wasted little time in showing they were ready to bounce back, scoring all four of their runs in the bottom of the first inning.

A double by Brooke Mallahan of Tewksbury got things started and a single by Franny Pesantes moved her to third. A sacrifice fly by Jenna Zechner scored Mallahan and moved Pesantes to second. Junior Kristina Lees of Tewksbury drove in Pesantes with a single and was driven home by freshman Stephanie Champoux of Tewksbury, and after freshman Ari Medeiros of Tewksbury reached on a bunt, sophomore Jen Curtis singled to drive in Champoux.

Whittier responded with a run in the top of the second, but that was all that senior pitcher Sara Elwell of Tewksbury would allow, as she limited Whittier to five hits on the day while striking out five and walking only one.

That the game stayed close throughout was no surprise to Shawsheen coach Maureen Buckley who expected a battle from Whittier.

"They're pesky. They hit the ball well and you always have to play good defense against them, which we did and Elwell did an outstanding job for us as well," Buckley said. "We did a very good job of controlling their offense."

Buckley was pleased with the way her team responded to the loss to Wilmington, a game in which they were not at their best, with several fielding miscues.

"We made some adjustments. They understand that we are in the home stretch for the tournament and mental mistakes and those kind of errors cannot happen," Buckley said. "The kids responded very well. They work hard and listen and do the best they can. I am very happy with what is going on with this team."

Buckley and the rest of the Lady Rams were also happy last Thursday with their win over PMA, a team that is in a rebuilding year. It was the freshmen Champoux and Medeiros who led the Lady Rams in this one, each going 4-for-4 on the day while Shawsheen pounded out 22 hits overall.

PMA jumped out to a 2-0 lead in the first inning, but after that it was all Shawsheen, led not only by the freshmen, but also by two hits each from Allyson Trayah and Pesantes. Elwell was once again very sharp, allowing five hits and one walk while striking out 10. Shawsheen, who has three games left in the regular season, leads Greater Lowell by one game for the top of the CAC, having handed the Gryphons their lone league loss of the season, and the teams will square off on the last day of the season, next Tuesday at Shawsheen with the league title at stake.

For coverage of Shawsheen Tech's loss to Wilmington, turn to page SP2W in Wilmington edition, or SP14T in the Tewksbury edition for story.

Baseball

The Shawsheen baseball team is also in the midst of a battle for the CAC crown along with arch rival Greater Lowell and Whittier. The Rams suffered a tough 9-6 extra inning loss to Whittier on Tuesday to drop them to 10-6 overall and 10-2 in the CAC, leaving a three way tie atop the CAC.

In the loss to Whittier on Tuesday, the Rams spotted Whittier a 4-0 lead after three innings, but battled back to take a 6-4 lead entering the seventh inning on two run home runs from Joe Sodergren of Tewksbury, Billy Reynolds of Wilmington and Guy DePlacido.

Whittier, however, struck back for two runs in the top of the seventh to tie it and then added three more in the eighth to take the 9-6 victory.

It was the second devastating loss of the season for the Rams to Whittier, who has handed them their only two league losses. Earlier in the season Whittier scored three runs in the bottom of the seventh to take a 7-6 victory over the Rams.

Entering Tuesday's game, the Rams had not lost a league game since, which is probably why as bad as this loss was to take, Shawsheen coach Jim Sullivan feels like his team can bounce back.

"We've had a pretty upbeat attitude all year long and we just take it one game at a time," Sullivan said. "We expect to bounce back. In baseball the next game comes so quickly that you really can't dwell on the past."

In the Rams previous game they got a huge win over Greater Lowell on the road, which at the time put them in sole possession of first place in the CAC. The Rams downed the Gryphons 2-0 behind an outstanding pitching effort from senior Kevin White of Tewksbury. White tossed a complete game for the Rams, allowing only five hits while striking out five.

It was White's first start on the mound in three years as he moved from his normal shortstop position and he made the most of his opportunity.

"We knew Kevin could throw and it was our fourth game of the week so we were in a position where we really had no choice," Sullivan said. "He came up really big for us in a game where we definitely needed him."

White also doubled in the first inning and scored what proved to be the winning run on a hit by DH Sean Hannon.

The Rams added a big insurance run in the seventh inning when Reynolds walked and was bunted over to second before being doubled home by Corey Suprey to make the score 2-0.

"That was huge for us," Sullivan said. "With the two run lead, it kept Greater Lowell out of being able to bunt in the bottom of the seventh."

With the 1-1 record against the top teams in the CAC, it sets up a likely dramatic showdown at Shawsheen next Tuesday when the Rams host Greater Lowell. Assuming the Rams top Chelsea on Thursday and Greater Lowell and Whittier also win their one league game before next Tuesday, the game between Shawsheen and Greater Lowell will be for a share of the league title, with the winner sharing the crown with Whittier.

Girls Lacrosse

The Shawsheen girls lacrosse team picked up a big win over Austin Prep last Friday in a home game. The 11-7 win improved the Lady Rams to 5-5-1 on the season as they seek a berth in the state tournament.

Making the win even more impressive was that Shawsheen was without five starters and several JV players had to step in to get the job done.

But it was senior Jess Houghton who led the way for Shawsheen with five goals and two assists.

Kaitlyn Gordon of Tewksbury added two goals, while Kim Barriss, Sarina Sheehan, Katie Vultaggio and Laura Sorenson each added one tally for the Lady Rams.

Gordon has had a spectacular first season for Shawsheen, but unfortunately her season came to an end with an ankle injury in the Austin Prep game.

"Kaitlin had been playing well for us and I was looking forward to upping her minutes but that can't happen now," Shawsheen coach Herb Post said.

Alyssa Martucci garnered defensive player of the game honors for Shawsheen, continuing her stellar all around play for the Lady Rams.

"Alyssa has been the most team first player I have ever coached," Post said. "She continually leads the JV team after she plays the varsity games."

Shawsheen dropped a tough 15-12 decision to Lowell earlier in the week, despite getting several outstanding efforts, including three goals from sophomore Marissa Irwin and two from junior Molly Hentz.

"Marissa is a tremendous athlete. She is a natural around the net and her goal totals continue to go up," Post said. "As for Molly, she is nursing a bad knee but continues to log lots of minutes in a middle position."

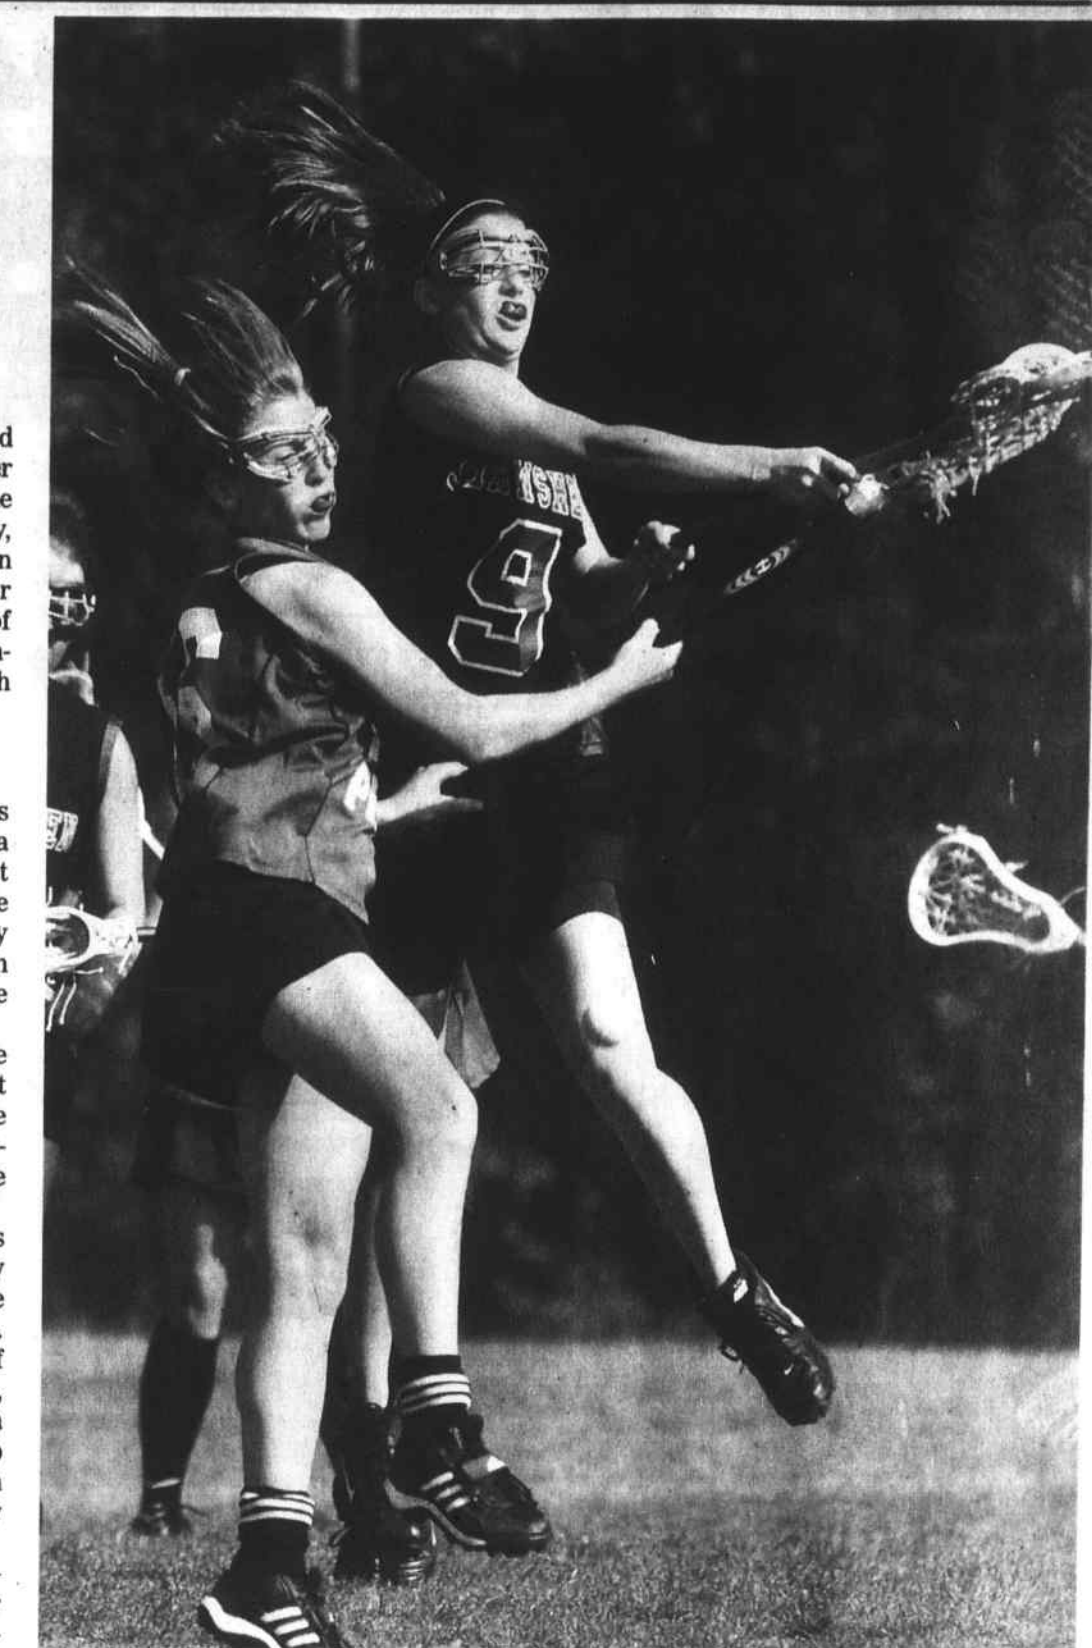

Despite the loss to Lowell, Post was pleased with the way his team played in that game and has been happy with their effort all season long.

"We are playing well, but the injuries are taking its toll on the girls," Post said. "I would say about half the girls are nursing ankle or knee injuries at this time."

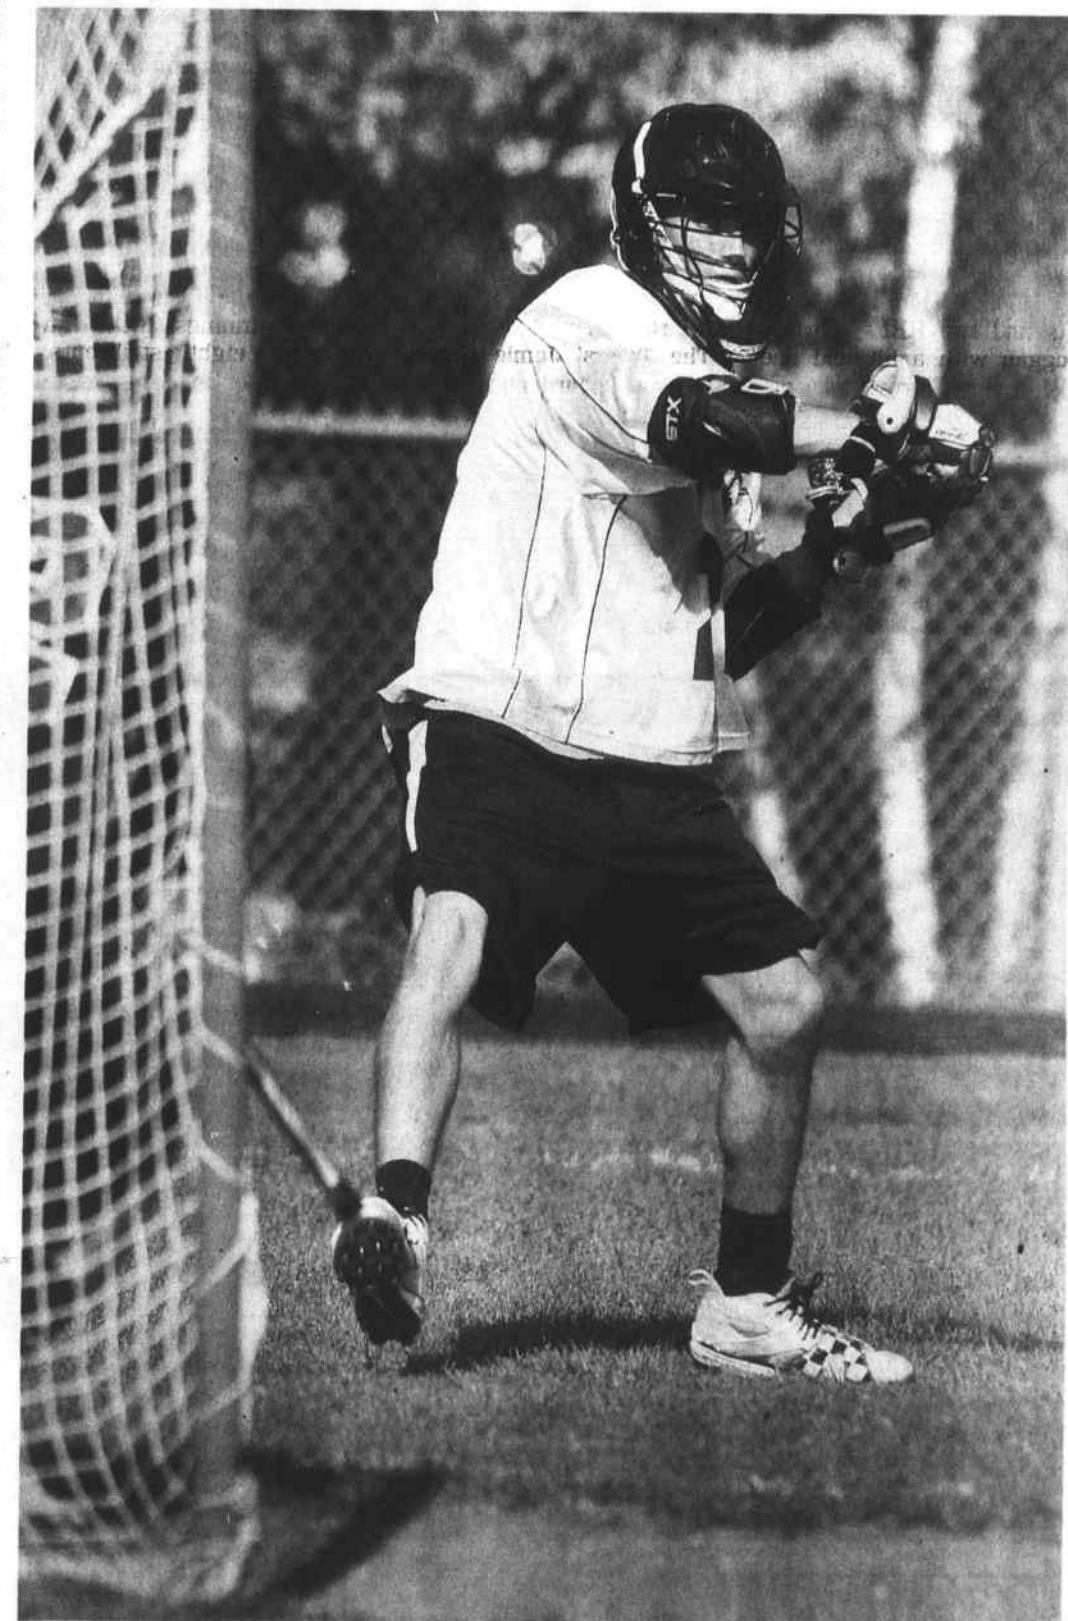

Boys Lacrosse

Shawsheen's boys lacrosse team is closing in on the CAC championship, seeking their fourth league crown in a row, after winning the MTLL the past three seasons. The Rams earned at least a share of the title with their second win of the season over second place Mystic Valley on Saturday, downing their rivals by a score of 12-5 to improve to 13-2 overall and 9-0 in the CAC, while Mystic is now 7-2 in the CAC with two league game left for both teams.

The day before the Mystic win, the Rams had picked up a 7-3 win over non-league foe Blackstone Valley in another home game. Blackstone has traditionally been a tough game for the Rams, and while they were not quite as talented as some of the Blackstone teams of years past, Shawsheen coach Chuck Baker was happy to pick up the win as well as the win over Mystic as they prepare for post season play.

"The wins were good. I felt Blackstone was a bit down compared to years past. The Mystic win was great seeing that they thought the win over them on Monday was a fluke," Baker said. "These types of wins of course get us prepared, but now we need to get the next two to take another league title and remain undefeated in the league."

The Rams were led in both wins by their top three attacks of Cory Foss, Erik Dellano of Wilmington and Dylan Leone of Tewksbury. Against Mystic Foss had five goals and two assists while Dellano had two goals and three assists and Leone had three goals. Against Blackstone each attack man scored two goals.

"They are starting to click at the right time," Baker said. "I need them to continue to produce like they are. Without them scoring, we could be a complete different team."

In the win over Mystic Foss broke the all time Shawsheen scoring record, as he now has 319 career points topping the previous record of 313 held by Shawn Donovan of Tewksbury.

Freshman Tim Hint of Wilmington added a goal in each game, while Ryan Woolaver of Tewksbury had three assists against Blackstone.

Junior goalie Frankie Mearles was outstanding in net for the Rams in both games, making 10 saves against Blackstone and 19 against Mystic. Just like his top scorers, Baker is happy to see his top goalie, as well as his backup, sophomore Rich Etter of Tewksbury, heating up at the right time.

"Frankie is cool and calm in the net. He makes the routine save and makes a big when we need it. It is huge having a confident goalie," Baker said. "His back-up, Rich Etter is also looking great and I have confidence in him as well. That's not a bad situation to be in as a coach."

Under 15 Lacrosse team takes Saugus

Zachary Leighton's hat trick combined with stellar defense paced a Wilmington U-15 White Boys Lacrosse team victory over Saugus 12-1. Seven players scored goals for Wilmington including Leighton (three goals), Mike Danciewicz, Mike Marcinkowski and Matt Penney (two goals apiece). The Wilmington defense, led by Austin Ferreira, Liam Bennett, Avery Woodbury, Tyler Peters and Justin DeNorscia, stifled the Saugus offense holding them without a shot on goal for the entire first half. Gino Martignetti, Nicholas Silva and Patrick Mcfall also chipped in a goal apiece for the Wildcats.

Wilmington was without its top goal scorer this season, Steven DeFuria, who was out for the game with a foot injury. The rest of the team stepped up in his absence. Wilmington opened up the game with a slow and methodical attack for the first five minutes of the game but proceeded to unleash a barrage of shots on the Saugus goalie and they opened up a 5-0 lead at half-time. Joe Castellano quarterbacked the offense with assists on four of the five goals in the first half and he finished with eight assists on the day. Wilmington opened the scoring in the second half to go up 6-0 and after an early goal by Saugus in the second half to narrow the lead to 6-1, goalie John Irizarry shut down the Saugus attack for the rest of the game with a few key saves while the offense went on to score six more unanswered goals. Strong middle play by Ben Gillis, Andrew Lesperance and C.J. Diorio helped to keep most of the action in the Saugus end of the field for the majority of the second half. The Wilmington U-15 White team travels to Reading next Sunday for a noon time game. For more information on Wilmington youth lacrosse visit www.wilmingtonathletics.com/Lacrosse/.

Woburn Goes Green

City takes steps to preserve 82.1 acres of Open Space

By GORDON VINCENT

Traditionally, Woburn's colors have always been black and orange. But these days, there's been an effort to keep Woburn green.

In what turned out to be a somewhat stunning series of revelations last week, Mayor Scott Galvin announced he had reached an agreement with Northeastern University to buy a 74.5-acre parcel off Cambridge Road in West Woburn for $6.7 million, and then said he would exercise the city's right of first refusal to buy a 7.6-acre section of the former Spence Farm near Central Square for $2.7 million.

While other communities in Eastern Massachusetts are seeing their undeveloped tracts of land sold off, Woburn is making an effort to preserve its natural resources.

"Woburn is in a unique situation at this point in time," said Galvin. "We're fortunate to be in a position where we're able to preserve some of our open space, which not a lot of communities are able to do in this economy."

Woburn's large industrial and commercial base has largely buffered the city from the national and statewide economic downturn that has caused bedroom communities to raise property taxes and seek Proposition 2 1/2 overrides or debt exclusions.

To fund the purchase of the Spence Farm and Northeastern University parcels, Galvin proposed a .75-percent increase in the meals tax that was approved as a local option last July by the state Legislature, along with an increase from 4 percent to 6 percent in the hotel/motel tax. Pending approval from a local legislative body (in Woburn's case, the City Council), communities were allowed to increase those taxes in order to raise revenue.

"I don't think it's an especially onerous tax," said Galvin, of the meals levy. "We're going to be able to buy two undeveloped pieces of property largely with the revenue we're going to see, and without raising property taxes for our residents."

SPENCE FARM

Earlier this year, representatives from Spence Farm off Wyman Street informed the city of a pending deal with Woburn-based Melanson Development to buy the so-called Farm Stand parcel for $2.4 million.

Melanson planned to build as many as 17 houses, provided the city did not exercise its right of first refusal to buy the property, which it retained because Spence Farm has been taxed at a lower agricultural rate.

At first, Galvin said he would pass on the land, but after a meeting of the City Council's Municipal Lands Committee in March that was attended by a number of Spence Farm neighbors, city officials came on board with the idea of acquiring the property.

"It was just a deal that was too good to pass up," said Galvin. "The timing wasn't great because we were negotiating with Northeastern, but we're never going to have an opportunity to buy this land again."

Two more Spence Farm parcels are expected to eventually be put up for sale, and Galvin said he would like to acquire those, if the financing is available.

"It remains to be seen if we'll be able to buy all three," said the mayor. "A lot of it depends upon how much revenue we're able to realize from the increase in the meals tax."

NORTHEASTERN PROPERTY

The 74.5-acre parcel off Cambridge Road at the Burlington line has been the source of discussion, litigation and eventually negotiation for about a decade, ever since Northeastern stunned the community by announcing a purchase-and-sale agreement with Archstone Properties, a developer that initially proposed a 640-unit housing complex with a low-and-moderate income component that side-

Movie Reviews

by Paul Feely

"Robin Hood" a very good remake of a classic

RUSSELL CROWE PLAYS Robin Hood in the story that has been told many times, but this is a massive, new version that is well worth seeing.

"ROBIN HOOD"
GRADE: ***

Ridley Scott and Russell Crowe, director and leading man for the historical epic 'Gladiator' in 2000, are reunited 10 years later for Robin Hood.

The story of this protector of the poor and enemy of the wealthy and powerful has been told many times, but Scott, Crowe, and a vast army of actors have produced a massive new version that stands up to the best work of either of their careers.

For a different take on the tale, Scott's Robin Hood is a prequel, giving us a look at the legend's origins, albeit on a massive scale. Crowe is Robin Longstride, an archer in King Richard the Lionheart's army.

Returning from fighting the Crusades in the Holy Land, King Richard and his men pillage their way across France. The marauding English king may be loved by his loyal soldiers, but the movie's script stays away from making him a lovable character in the eyes of the audience, painting him as little more than a bandit, but one with a crown and an army at his disposal.

Richard's misadventures abroad have left his own country at the mercy of his younger brother, Prince John, a true dictator in waiting. The English church and state rule without fear of reprisal, taxing the people beyond reason and denying them the most basic rights.

Longstride's evolution from common archer to Robin Hood begins after the routine sacking of a French castle turns disastrous for Richard. Suddenly left with no king to command him, the quick-thinking Longstride gathers his small band of friends for a hasty return to England.

Obviously, these friends — Little John (Kevin Durand), Will Scarlet (Scott Grimes) and Allan A'Dayle (Alan Doyle) — are the future Robin Hood's merry men — and they indeed know how to party.

Just the opposite, Crowe plays Longstride as the most thoughtful and undemonstrative of men. He's a hero who chooses to let his actions speak for him, but is able to come up with the inspiring speech when needed.

Sharing the movie is fellow Aussie Cate Blanchett, co-starring as Marion Loxley. In an age when women have no rights, Blanchett runs her elderly father's 5,000 acres with equal parts strength and compassion. Crowe and Blanchett's budding relationship also gives the film comic relief as well as romance.

"IRON MAN 2"
GRADE: ***

"Iron Man," dominated by Robert Downey Jr.'s playful performance, was such a refreshing surprise as a superhero movie that many had high hopes that "Iron Man 2" would break recent trends and be a refreshing surprise as a super sequel.

"Iron Man 2" is as good as the 2008 original and may be even better. Its story flows more consistently (the original lost momentum after Tony Stark (Downey) escaped from the cave in Afghanistan, and the finale, was clunky. The sequel's ending is a much more satisfying adrenaline rush.

Like "Spider-Man 2," this sequel delves more deeply into the main character's psyche and pushes his personal story forward while muddying up relationships with his closest friends.

"Iron Man" ended with Stark deciding to ditch the whole secret identity thing and tell the world, "I am Iron Man." The sequel deals with the consequences of being a celebrity superhero. Stark remains brash in public. "I have successfully privatized world peace," he says at a Senate hearing where the government demands he turn over the "Iron Man weapon" to the military.

Privately, Stark wrestles with the reality that the Iron Man suit is killing him. The tiny reactor in his chest that keeps his heart from failing is also poisoning his blood. He goes into a depression, and his erratic and drunken behavior drives away his loyal assistant, Pepper Potts (Gwyneth Paltrow), and Air Force buddy Jim Rhodes (Don Cheadle, replacing Terrence Howard).

Take Tony Stark's potential self-destruction at the story's core, add two villains, and "Iron Man 2" is stuffed to its transistors with characters, subplots and personal arcs (in addition to everything else, Stark deals with issues involving his father).

But director Jon Favreau keeps the story's many elements in balance. "Iron Man 2" introduces two adversaries, one for Tony Stark and the other for Iron Man. Stark's nemesis is Justin Hammer (Sam Rockwell, sleazy yet captivating), a rival arms manufacturer who envies Stark's charm and adulation. Iron Man's villain is a more typical comic book bad guy, Ivan Vanko (Mickey Rourke), AKA Whiplash, a heavily tattooed Russian physicist who believes Stark's father stole the arc reactor idea from his father.

Favreau knows the characters and performers made the first film a hit and allows that to continue. Tony promotes Pepper to CEO of Stark Enterprises, which allows Paltrow to step up her integrity and determination. It also allows Johansson to become Stark's new assistant.

Tony Stark never completely reforms. Part of him remains the spoiled, playboy industrialist — the bad boy of superheroes — that made Downey the ideal Tony Stark. Equally credible as a charmer or a manic-depressive, Downey's Stark still serves as a refreshing alternative to the other big screen superheroes, the middle ground between noble Peter Parker and brooding Bruce Wayne. The special effects are spectacular, but Downey is the reason Iron Man keeps ticking.

"A NIGHTMARE ON ELM STREET"
GRADE: **

There's really no need to take another trip to Elm Street — unless, of course, you're a movie executive wholooking to make a few quick bucks off horror fans on opening weekend.

The faces have all changed in the 2010 version of Wes Craven's horror film classic 'A Nightmare on Elm Street', but the story remains the same as the one that played out over 20 years ago.

Nancy, Kris, Quentin, Jesse and Dean all live on Elm Street. At night, they're all having the same dream — of the same man, wearing a tattered red and green striped sweater, a beaten fedora half-concealing a disfigured face and a gardener's glove with knives for fingers. And they're all hearing the same frightening voice calling to them.

One by one, he terrorizes them within their dreams, where the rules are his, and the only way out is to wake up.

But when one of their number dies a violent death, they soon realize that what happens in their dreams happens for real, and the only way to stay alive is to stay awake. Turning to each other, the four surviving friends try to uncover how they became

May 21 and 22 Lexington Pops Chorus Spring Concert

On Friday and Saturday, May 21 and 22, at 8:00 p.m., the Lexington Pops Chorus will present its 28th annual Spring Concert at Hancock Church, 1912 Massachusetts Avenue on the Green in Lexington.

The first part of the program will feature Robert Ray's Gospel Mass with instrumentation and guest soloist, Boston jazz singer Allyssa Jones.

Among the pieces in the second part of the program are a medley from Frank Loesser's "Guys and Dolls", Randall Thompson's "Choose Something Like a Star from Frostiana", and Mark Zuckerman's arrangement of "Tum Balalayka."

The Lexington Pops Chorus has been directed by Robert A. Lague, a Woburn resident, for all 28 years of its existence.

Lague is a graduate of the New England Conservatory of Music with a Bachelor's Degree in Music Education and a Master's Degree in Applied Piano. He has taught in Massachusetts public schools for 40 years and retired as Program Supervisor of Fine Arts in the Stoneham Public Schools.

Lague was the first conductor of the Massachusetts Music Educators Association Northeastern District Junior Chorus and has conducted several festival choruses in New Hampshire and Massachusetts since that time. He has also accompanied the All-State Chorus twice.

Lague is the Choir Director and Organist at the Second Congregational Church of Beverly. He is also the "Official Organist" for the Massachusetts Teachers Association and the National Education Association. Lague has received the Lowell Mason Award from MMEA for outstanding work in Music Education. He has also been awarded the Most Valuable Teacher Award from the Red Sox.

The Chorus' accompanist is David Owens, a well-known organist, pianist, and composer in the Boston area for 25 years.

Tickets are $12 in advance from a chorus member or online at www.LexingtonPopsChorus.org

Buried in their past is a debt that has just come due, and to save themselves, they will have to plunge themselves into the mind of a maniac - Freddy Krueger.

Jackie Earle Haley does a nice job as the knife-fingered terror, but in this moviegoer's eyes no one ever could equal the horror of Wes Craven's groundbreaking 1984 original that continues to terrify those who like to be scared while they're entertained.

This remake is an above-average re-imagining of the story, but there was no real reason to take on the project, other than a quick money grab.

There are enough "scare" moments to keep you interested, but not enough to justify remaking what was already a very good movie.

"THE LOSERS" GRADE: **

Don't head into the theater with any great expectations from 'The Losers', and you will leave a happy moviegoer.

Award nominee material it ain't, but from the opening scenes to the closing credits it's one of the better rides you are likely to take this summer movie season - and it's not even May yet.

IN CONCEPT IN WINCHESTER

"The Board of Selectmen voted to approve the conceptual plan for the redesign of the Transfer Station," notes the Winchester edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"Since the Transfer Station is also under consideration as a location for an array of ground-mounted solar panels, the board also approved placing an article on the spring Town Meeting warrant requesting an appropriation for consulting services related to such an installation.

"Mike Scipione of Weston and Sampson reviewed the design for the Transfer Station. Features include modification of the entrance; scale to remain in its existing position; a central area for recycling compactors; areas on the east side (to the right as one enters) for bulk metal, white goods, Freon goods, CRT, tires, and books; the conveyor belt at the rear; and the compost area and swap shop on the west side.

"Scipione said the facility is to be flexible. The bins could be relocated. Although the plan shows only one container at each recycling spot, there could be two or three. The layout, he said, will not restrict single- or dual-stream recycling or a pay-as-you-throw program.

"The plan shown to the selectmen also included traffic patterns. He said that there is to be lots of signage and pavement markings. The biggest question that arose among the selectmen was whether parking should be laid out at the recycling bins to direct cars to back in (as indicated on the plan) or head in to the parking spaces. Scipione said they had gone back and forth on the question several times. The selectmen's comments also went back and forth as to which would be safer and preferred by users.

"The next steps in the project design include completing the drainage design; finalizing the drop-off locations, layout, and scale house; and getting cost estimates...."

And more.

MIDDLESEX EAST SPORTS WEEKLY TRIVIA: What year was the Stanley Cup first awarded? Answer appears elsewhere in this column.

•Freshman Rew Wilson (Niantic, Conn.) hit a three-run walk-off home run in the bottom of the seventh inning recently to lead Plymouth State University to a 16-6 victory over Western Connecticut State University in the second game of a Little East Conference doubleheader at Panther Park, wrapping up the season for both schools.

The Colonials took the opener, 8-0, as junior left-hander Billy Armstrong (Moodus, Conn.) scattered five hits and five walks over eight shutout innings while striking out 13 batters. The Panthers came back to take the nightcap in a game shortened to seven innings by the 10-run rule. WestConn completes the season with a 16-21 overall record and 5-9 mark in the LEC, while PSU winds up 10-29 overall and 2-12 in conference play.

The visitors led the first game 3-0 after seven innings but sealed the victory with a five-run eighth inning. Armstrong (4-3) held the Panthers off the board for eight innings, and senior Jeff Gordon (Milford, Conn.) pitched a perfect ninth inning to complete the shutout. Senior Sam McNeil (Gales Ferry, Conn.) and sophomore Anthony Ruffo (Norwich, Conn.) had three hits apiece with McNeil driving in three and Ruffo scoring three and knocking in two.

SOPHOMORE JONATHAN BISHOP (WOBBURN, MASS.) recorded his first victory of the season for PSU, allowing only seven hits and one earned run in the complete-game effort while striking out three.

•After an historic regular season, University at Albany continued to make history with the release of the America East women's lacrosse end of season awards. Albany's Nikki Branchini (Guilford, N.Y./Guilford) is the first Great Dane to garner the league's Player of the Year award, while Albany head coach Lindsey Hart topped the Coach of the Year award balloting for the first time in her career. Branchini was a unanimous pick as a first-team defender and was joined by fellow back fielders

Corcoran Downey (Ellicott City, Md./Centennial), another unanimous selection, of Boston U., Allie Duclos (South Windsor, Conn./South Windsor) of New Hampshire and Caitlin Izzo (Longmeadow, Mass./Longmeadow) of Vermont.

First-team midfielders were Albany's Mel Rorie (Lansdale, Pa./North Penn), Kayla Best (Guilford, N.Y./Guilford), BOSTON U.'S RACHEL COLLINS (WINCHESTER, MASS./WINCHESTER) and New Hampshire's Kate Keagins (Bayshore, N.Y./Bayshore). The attackers making up the first team were Albany's Christine Grueniger (Lindenhurst, N.Y./Lindenhurst), Boston U.'s McKinley Curro (Amherst, N.Y./Souhegan), Traci Landy (Seaford, N.Y./Seaford), and New Hampshire's Shauna Kaplan (Framingham, Mass./Framingham). The first-team goalkeeper was Great Dane Ashley Ross (Lancaster, Pa./Conestoga Valley), also a former field hockey standout.

Joining Fahey on the all-rookie team were Albany midfielder Rachael Burek (Rensselaer, N.Y./Columbia), Binghamton attacker Kim McGeever (Northport, N.Y./Northport), Boston U. midfielders Kristen Mogavero (Massapequa, N.Y./Massapequa), Brittany Carlin (Summit, N.J./Chatham) and attacker Danielle Estrasco (Massapequa, N.Y./Massapequa), New Hampshire midfielder Amber Casiano (South Windsor, Conn./South Windsor), DEFENDER ALLY STAGER (READING, MASS./READING MEMORIAL), attacker Jenny Simpson (New Canaan, Conn./New Canaan) and goalkeeper Kathleen O'Keefe (Chatham, N.J./Chatham), and Stony Brook defender Justyne Passarelli (Glen Head, N.Y./North Shore).

Stager, a freshman defender, has 13 starts in playing all 16 games. Statistically, she has contributed 19 ground balls - tied for fifth on the team - and 19 draw controls, which ranks third, as well as two goals and three assists. Stager's season highlights included the game at Yale in which she finished with three ground balls, one caused turnover, two draw controls and one assist. In the last two games, Stager tallied totals of one ground ball, one caused turnover and five draw controls.

•Need some help with this week's question? It was prior to last century.

•The Reading Lions Club Journey for Sight 5K-Road Race/ 1 Mile Walk is scheduled for Saturday, May 22, 2010 at 10:00AM. This will be our 24rd year hosting this event. All proceeds go to Massachusetts Lions Eye Research Fund, Inc.

The race begins at Burbank Ice Arena, Reading, MA

T-Shirts will be provided to the first 100 registrants. Pre-registration fee is $18.00 and $20.00 on the day of the race.

2008 WOBBURN HIGH GRADUATE BRITTNEY MURPHY, a sophomore at Colby-Sawyer College was recently named a 2010 All-TCCC 2nd team lacrosse player.

Brittney led the team this year with 49 goals and 18 assists for a total of 67 points. She was also chosen as Colby-Sawyer's athlete of the week 3 separate times throughout the spring season. Among conference players Murphy ranks 9th in points for the season.

Brittney was a Middlesex League All-star for 2 yrs. as well as the first to reach 100 career points at Woburn High School.

ANSWER TO THIS WEEK'S TRIVIA QUESTION: The Stanley Cup was first awarded to the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association hockey club, champions of the Amateur Hockey Association of Canada, in 1893.

DO YOU KNOW SOMETHING WE DON'T? If you have information about a local athlete that you would like to see appear in this column, please email it to readingchronicle@comcast.net, or mail it to: Paul Feely, Middlesex East Sports, P.O. Box 240, Reading, Ma., 01867, or call Paul at 781-944-2200.

Mission of Deeds 13th Annual Golf Tournament

Mission of Deeds 13th Annual Charitable Golf Tournament will be held at the Woburn Country Club on Monday, June 7, 2010.

Jan Triglione of Premier Realty Group, this year's chairwoman, states "This is the Mission of Deeds' major fundraiser of the year. Last year we raised over $29,000 and we hope to exceed that amount this year."

We invite your participation as a sponsor or a golfer. This is a great way to get publicity for your business and to help the needy at the same time. Golfers may participate as foursomes ($500) or individuals ($125).

This year, you have a chance to win up to $2500 with our 50/50 Golf Ball Drop. We expect to sell 500 numbered golf balls at $10.00 apiece. On the day of the tournament, we will drop the golf balls from the top of a cherry picker. The ball closest to the hole will win up to $2500. You can purchase tickets at the Mission of Deeds, 6 Chapin Ave., Reading, go online at www.missionofdeeds.org or call 781-944-8050.

We are also looking for donations of prizes to be used in the raffle and silent auction. Both of these are a large part of the tournament. Many local businesses have already donated items for the raffle and auction.

The proceeds from this tournament will support the dignity and respect of families who are starting a new life upon leaving a homeless shelter. Mission of Deeds provides new beds, donated furniture and household items to people in need, free of charge.

ed furniture and household items to people in need, free of charge.

We need your help to make this event a success again this year. If you wish to participate or have any questions, please call Pat or Paula at the Mission of Deeds office at 781-944-8050.

GREEN From S-1

stepped almost every local zoning control and would have greatly worsened an already grim traffic situation on Cambridge Road, West Woburn's main thoroughfare and the connection between Winchester and Burlington.

The city chose to fight the development through the court system, and after eight years of legal maneuvering, the state Supreme Judicial Court eventually reduced the project to 300 units, at which point Archstone deemed the development no longer economically-viable.

When Galvin was elected last year, he pledged to continue negotiations with Northeastern, and after four months of discussions, the two sides eventually came to an agreement for $6.7 million, less than half of the assessed value for the parcel.

"It's really a great deal for the city ... to get a piece of property that size that's valued at $14 million for that price," said Galvin. "I think they (Northeastern) really took a hit from a public relations standpoint when the (Archstone) proposal came up, and they were kind of looking to make amends for that."

What becomes of the Northeastern parcel, assuming the sale is consummated, is a discussion that has already started. The city brought in a team from UMass-Amherst to study and evaluate three separate parcels in the city - Northeastern, the city's section of the former Winning Farm that was part of a deal with Burlington developer Robert Murray, and Shannon Farm, which is still privately-owned but is expected to go on the market at some point.

"We wanted to get kind of a global idea of what we wanted to do on the West Side," said Galvin. "Those are three very attractive pieces of open land, and it's worth the city's while to discuss what's going to happen with them in the future."

The Woburn Greenway study committee, headed by UMass professor Jack Ahern (City Council President Paul Denaro's cousin) made three presentations to the community about future uses for the three West Woburn parcels.

"Originally, they (students) were going to study the whole city, but that seemed like it was going to be too much and (Planning Director Edmund Tarallo) had them focus on the West Side," said Galvin.

Galvin said he would prefer to see the Northeastern site be used for passive or active recreation, or a mixture of the two. There could be hiking or biking trails, with the possibility of carving out playing fields for the entire community to use.

"Open space is something everyone talks about, but the truth is nothing much has been done since Tom Higgins was the mayor (from 1978-83), and that was five administrations ago," said Galvin.

The UMass group also raised the possibility of using the Northeastern parcel for cemetery space, notably with environmentally-friendly cremation lots that would maximize space.

The city is in dire need of cemetery plots. Woburn Cemetery Commission Chairman William Kerns estimated earlier this month that Woodbrook Cemetery will be completely filled in three years.

Galvin said the issue of cemetery space will be addressed, but at this point he is not inclined to use the Northeastern parcel for burial plots. The Spence Farm parcel likely contains too much wetlands to be used as a cemetery.

"At some point, (Kerns) and I are going to have to sit down and take a hard look at cemetery space," said Galvin. "But right now I'd rather see us preserve the Northeastern property for recreation."

While other communities are seeing green space turned into paved space and building space, Woburn is bucking the trend and preserving what remains of its available land. And better still for taxpayers, the city has a plan that will not involve a significant hike in taxes.

Heartview melds indoor & outdoor living

By Associated Designs

The Heartview's window-bright interior segues nearly seamlessly into its wrap-around outside living area at the rear. And the exterior materials ensure an organic blending with the natural environment as well. In the right setting, every window can offer spectacular views.

Stone veneer-covered bases support slender posts that frame the front porch and garage overhang. These run a harmonious counterpoint to the shake-textured siding, wooden corbels, and Craftsman-style windows on all sides.

The use of natural materials extends throughout. Examples include handsome exposed drop beams in the great room and owners' suite, and wooden posts set on tapered stone veneer bases that flank the entry hall.

An expansive great room sits at the heart of the home. A kitchen fills one side, across a curved and raised eating bar. On the other inner wall, a stone veneer fireplace nestles between a home entertainment center and a stack of shelves. Sparkling glass fills around 80 to 90% of the two exterior walls. Craftsman windows flank atriun doors that access the patio, and each window set is crowned by a row of multipaned windows.

www.AssociatedDesigns.com

Windowed hallways lead off to the right and left of the entry hall. The right branch goes to two secondary bedrooms, a bathroom, and a pass-through utility room linked to the two-car garage. The left hallway channels you into the Heartview's sumptuous owners' suite.

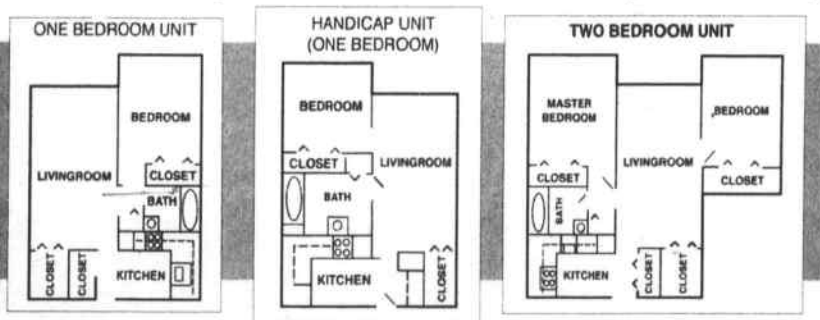

Drop beams create an interesting grid over the sleeping area, and a cushy window seat would fit nicely into the room's rectangular window bay. Other luxury touches include a deep walk-in closet and a two-section bathroom with a spa tub and double vanity. The toilet and shower are separately enclosed for privacy and steam containment.

For a review plan, including scaled floor plans, elevations, section and artist's conception, send $25 to Associated Designs, 1100 Jacobs Dr., Eugene, OR 97402. Please Specify the Heartview 50-015 and include a return address when ordering. A catalog featuring 550 home plans is available for $15.
